5,000 View Parade Held At Wellsville

1,600 At Dance In Jaycees' Annual Labor Day Program

An estimated 5,000 persons lined Wellsville streets Monday night and 1,600 attended a dance that followed in the concluding events of the annual Jaycee Day celebration over the Labor Day weekend.

The crowning of Miss Kathy Broderick as "Miss Jaycee of 1963" and the announcement of Wayne Rose of the "Outstanding Citizen" featured the dance at the Beacom Memorial Gym.

Miss Broderick, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Broderick, 1030 Main St. She succeeds Miss Faye Ricci, 1962 queen.

Miss Broderick was crowned by Miss Penny Weekley, runnerup in the past two contests. She was presented a bouquet of flowers, a three-piece luggage set, a large trophy and a 17-jewel watch.

First runnerup was Miss Barbara Wolski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolski of Glasgow, and second runnerup was Jacquie Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Young of Main St. Each was presented a two-piece luggage set.

Miss Paula Creaturo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Creaturo, 411 14th St., was selected as Miss

Man In Auto Thefts Held

Former Race Track Worker Accused

James Edwin Davidson, 26, of Penrod, Ky., has been bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury in connection with a number of Tri - State Area auto thefts and breaking and enterings.

The sheriff's office said Davidson, an unemployed race track worker, has admitted theft of nine or 10 cars in East Liverpool in the past few weeks.

The suspect remains in custody in New Cumberland under $5,000 bond while authorities continue to obtain statements on car thefts and breaking and enterings.

Given a preliminary hearing Saturday before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland on a charge of breaking and entering of the Riviera Club Aug. 24, Davidson pleaded guilty and was bound over under $5,000 bond.

The sheriff's office said Davidson may possibly be brought before the Grand Jury which con-

Boxcar Derailed In Runaway Trip

A runaway boxcar roared across five busy intersections in downtown East Liverpool late Monday afternoon at the height of the Labor Day traffic rush and finally was knocked off the tracks by an automatic derailer in Jethro Hollow, but no one was hurt—not a single auto was scratched.

"I think the Good Lord must have been riding that boxcar," Asst. Fire Chief David Anderson said.

The car traveled about a mile in all on the Horn Switch tracks, gaining momentum all the way.

ANDERSON saw the rail car cross lower St. Clair Ave., a few moments after it drifted away mysteriously from the Winland Lumber Co.'s siding, on Walnut St. and pursued the runaway with the siren wailing and the red light flashing on the chief's red station wagon.

Anderson said he had no hope of intercepting the boxcar, but was attempting to warn traffic out of the way and expected to be on the scene to give first aid and summon help via radio if the boxcar ploughed into an auto.

The boxcar's unscheduled trip began about 5:06 p.m. from the lumber company's siding just east of Walnut St. It crossed Walnut, St. Clair Ave., Smith St., Dresden Ave. and Jefferson St. on its way downgrade toward West End.

Dresden Ave., was jammed with Labor Day traffic when the car rolled across the intersection, but not a single auto was bumped.

THERE WAS a similar runaway within the last five years. It, too, ended without serious damage or injury.

At the point where the Horn Switch tracks run into the main line in Jethro Hollow, the runaway car hit an automatic derailer. It was flipped into a deep ditch, the trucks torn off the car. The car was loaded with plywood, police said.

Anderson had just pulled up to the Central Fire Station in the chief's car when he saw the boxcar roll across the tracks at the foot of the St. Clair Ave. grade.

He switched on the red light and siren on the station wagon and took off in pursuit, traveling via Lincoln Ave. and Smith St. toward Dresden Ave. As he rounded the turn off Lincoln onto Smith, the boxcar cleared the Smith St. crossing and rounded the bend to cross Dresden Ave.

The assistant chief turned into the left lane of Smith St., continuing to trail the box car. He estimated its speed at 35 miles an hour as it crossed the Jefferson St. crossing. No autos were near the tracks at the foot of Jefferson St. — apparently the automatic blinker lights had warned the drivers of the boxcars' approach.

ANDERSON turned into a secondary street leading to the sewage treatment plant at the rear of Westgate School. The plant crew told him they had heard the rail car already had jumped the tracks in West End.

Anderson instructed the city crew to notify the police department to advise the railroad's Yellow Creek tower of the derailment in order that it could halt traffic. He suspected the runaway boxcar might have flipped onto the main line tracks.

Then Anderson went to the watchman's tower at the foot of

Suspect Denies Charges

Man Held To Grand Jury For Car Theft, Burglary

A 37-year-old Maryland man, nabbed early Sunday after a chase and a struggle with an officer, was bound over to the Grand Jury today in Municipal Court on charges alleging he burglarized the showroom of Central Service, Inc., on W. 7th St., then used one of the auto agency's cars to haul away the loot.

Richard E. Bankerd of Havre de Grace, formerly of East Liverpool, pleaded not guilty, waived a preliminary hearing and asked to be held to the Grand Jury on charges of burglary and auto theft filed by Patroleman Paul E. Carter. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set his bond at $1,500 on each charge.

Officer Carter used a commandeered car to nab the suspect originally, then utilized another passerby's auto to pursue the man a second time after he escaped, police said. The patrolman overpowered the suspect in a struggle on a steep hillside off Dresden Ave. and took him to jail after the second chase.

It was another case of a burglary being "solved in reverse," as police did not know of the auto agency entry until after the suspect's arrest touched off an investigation.

It all began when Patrolman Carter, on foot patrol, noted there was no rear license plate on an auto which had halted on the Diamond for a traffic light, headed north on Dresden.

He walked up to the car to talk with the driver, later identified as Bankerd. When the officer walked to the rear of the car to check again for a license plate, the car shot forward and headed north on Dresden, officers said.

Patrolman Carter commandeered the car of a passing motorist and took up the chase. The pursued car went onto the sidewalk at Webber Way and Dresden Ave. to get around a string of

Road Deaths Hit New High Over Holiday

Nation Counts 495 Killed On Highways For Long Weekend

Traffic	495
Boating	22
Drowning	57
Miscellaneous'	94
Total	668

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents across the nation during the Labor Day holiday killed at least 495 persons, a record for the three-day weekend.

Delayed reports were expected to boost the total to around 500 for the 78-hour period that began at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and ended midnight Monday.

In addition to traffic fatalities, there were 22 deaths from boating accidents, 57 by drowning and 94 in miscellaneous mishaps for an over-all total of 668, also a record for the holiday.

The traffic toll surpassed the previous record of 461 for a Labor Day holiday, set in 1951. The previous over-all record for the holiday was 658, also set in 1951.

The National Safety Council said belated reports could boost the final traffic count to 500. Before the start of the holiday the council had estimated that between 410 and 490 persons could be killed on the highways. However, it said that caution on the part of motorists could hold the figure to 410.

As the death rate held steady to a pace of more than six fatalities an hour on Sunday and Monday, the council expressed fear the final toll might reach 500. Millions of motorists jammed the highways Monday on homeward trips.

The average number of traffic deaths for a late summer 78-hour non-holiday weekend, the council said,is 330. An Associated Press survey of accident deaths during the 78-hour non-holiday period from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 17 to

Russia Claims U2 Plane Flew Over Far East Border

Note Blasts U.S., Asks Punishment

Warning Re-Issued On Retaliation For Security Violation

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union charged in a note today that a United States U2 reconnaissance plane violated Soviet borders in the Far Eastern area on Aug. 30.

The note to the United States said the U2 plane "overflew the territory and territorial waters of the U.S.S.R. for nine minutes."

The note, as reported by the Sovite news agency Tass, declared: "The government of the Soviet Union also states that its earlier warning about the taking of proper retaliatory measures, 'including the rendering harmless of war bases, used against the U.S.S.R.' remains in force."

The Soviet Union "reserves the right to raise the question of aggressive actions by the United States at the General Assembly of the United Nations," the protest said.

The Russians claimed the U2 plane flew over Sakhalin Island in the Pacific.

The note demanded that American authorities "rigorously punish the persons responsible for organizing this flight of an American warplane, and take measures at once to prevent any future violations of Soviet airspace."

"If this is not done," the note says, "the Soviet government will take measures it will deem necessary to safeguard the security of its frontiers in the event of new violations."

The Tass report said the note "recalled the grave international

Man, 23, Held For Burglary In Restaurant

A 23-year-old district man, spotted in the act of a burglary at an E. 5th St. restaurant just before midnight Sunday, was nabbed by a cordon of four officers who surrounded the place.

Robert W. Beatty of Apples Corners, who fled out a side door at the arrival of the four policemen, was charged with breaking and entering of the Arcade Restaurant, 412 E. 5th St., owned by Edgar N. Kinsey.

Arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Beatty pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary hearing and asked to be bound over to the Grand Jury. The court set his bond at $1,500.

Police were altered at 11:53 by a dispatcher at the Veterans Cab Co., which is in the rear of the Bus Terminal almost directly across the street from the restaurant. The dispatcher said an unidentified man walked into his office and said he believed someone was attempting to burglarize the restaurant.

The alert came in to headquarters at the time shifts were changing, which meant officers from both turns were available to surround the place.

Lt. W. E. McDaniel sent Patrolmen Jerry Adkins and Ronald Brookes in one cruiser to approach the restaurant from the front. He and Patrolman L. E. Richard approached from the rear in another car via Apple Alley, which runs alongside the restaurant, parallel with Broadway and Walnut St.

Patrolmen Adkins and Brookes said as they neared the building

Rebels In Algiers Claim Ben Bella Forces Stalled

ALGIERS (AP) — Rebel guerrilla forces stalled one column of Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's regular troops far south of Algiers today and claimed they repulsed another in heavy combat farther east.

Dozens were killed and wounded when Ben Bella's men attacked defenses in the mountain village of Oued Djenane south of Aumale with heavy and automatic weapons, the guerrilla command announced.

Aumale is 55 miles southeast of Algiers.

West of that area, fire from guerrillas stopped the northward advance of Col. Ahmed Ben Cherif's regulars at the village of Brazza, in the Berrouaghia sector some 65 miles by highway from Algiers.

During the night, scores of requisitioned trucks bore guerrilla reinforcements southward from Algiers to strengthen defense lines of the rebel Wilaya No. 4. Algiers itself was calm.

Berber guerrillas from Wilaya No. 3 of the Kabylie Mountains guarded the ancient casbah, which has been the scene of two bloody clashes in the past week between supporters of Ben Bella and the Wilaya No. 4 guerrillas who wrested this city from his Political Bureau.

Out-gunned guerrilla detachments took up defense positions in the suburbs of Algiers and vowed to hold the capital.

Advance elements of Ben Bella's 30,000 regulars were reported in the Medea area, 55 miles south of Algiers. Another column bypassed Orleansville and was reported less than 100 miles southwest of the city on the Oran-Algiers highway.

Some retreating guerrillas blew up bridges and barricaded mountain passes in an attempt to slow the Ben Bella thrust. Mostly the guerrillas fled or surrendered after brief encounters with the regular troops commanded by Col. Houari Boumedienne, the army chief of staff.

Civilian crowds organized by the guerrillas to block the invading soldiers' routes often cheered the regular army instead.

The small guerrilla forces equipped with rifles and light machine guns were no match for the army with its Communist bloc artillery, mortars and heavy machine guns.

Reports indicate about 10 persons have been killed and 30 wounded in the few skirmishes since Ben Bella's troops began their advance Saturday to wrest Algiers and the surrounding countryside from the control of the rebellious guerrillas of Wilaya (zone) No. 4.

Ben Bella told newsmen in Oran that his forces were under orders to avoid bloodshed where possible and that his advancing troops had "their rifles on their shoulders and their cannon covered with tarpaulins."

He said the Political Bureau, Algeria's de facto civilian government, is determined to re-establish its authority in Algiers, taken by the Wilaya 4 guerrilla command on Aug. 25.

City Teachers Air Plans To Open Schools

School bells will toll Wednesday morning summoning an estimated 5,738 city students back to classes.

The 1962-63 term was launched officially today with a general teachers' meeting at Westgate School followed by a meeting of principals.

Building meetings were to be held this afternoon.

The anticipated enrollment is the largest in the city's history but the actual enrollment is expected to run about 100 less, Supt. Ralph W. Betts said.

The enrollment figures show an estimated 3,105 in elementary schools, including 586 starting first grade; 1,427 in the two junior highs, and 1,206 in the high school.

Globe Strike Goes On With Bid Rejected

Federal Mediator Leaves And No New Negotiations Seen

The first strike in half a century against Globe Brick Co. in Newell continued into its fourth day today with 226 employes idled after the apparent collapse of negotiations for a new contract.

The employes are members of Local 647 of the International Brick and Clay Workers Union, whose two-year contract expired Friday midnight.

The local began picketing the plant in Kenilworth Saturday in a "no contract, no work" position.

Winston A. Porter, Globe president, said the company has not been advised by the local's negotiating committee on whether the firm's last offer has been accepted or rejected by the full membership.

But a spokesman for Local 647 said the offer has been rejected and George Woomer of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who has been attending contract talks under way since Aug. 1, has left the area.

A meeting was held by Local 647 this morning at 10 in the IOOF Hall in Newell. The local's negotiating team explained in de-

Adjustment Delayed

Scientists Check Venus Shot For Correction Try

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— Harried scientists, temporarily stymied in plans to point Venus space craft Mariner 2 nearer its destination, tried today to determine whether its antenna is aimed at the earth or moon.

They had hoped it had a lock on the earth.

The delicate mid-course correction of the 447-pound craft's route can still be made, the scientists said, but will take a while longer.

Project officials were just about to fire a small rocket motor on the flying space laboratory pointing it nearer its destination Monday when the question popped up.

They postponed the critical radio message to Mariner 2 ordering the adjustment for at least 24 hours.

Before that, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here—designer of the craft and its caretaker during flight—had announced the yard-wide antenna was properly aimed at earth.

Data radioed back from the craft as it plunged away from earth at more than 6,000 miles per hour indicated the antenna had swung out as ordered to its planned position Sunday.

The directional change of Mariner 2 is designed to bring it within 10,000 miles of the mystery planet next December. Without the maneuver, it will miss by more than 200,000 miles.

The special antenna, with a range of 64 million miles, is needed to pick up the direction-changing signal from earth.

The scientists say they can either try to point it again at earth or leave it possibly locked on the moon.

"However, in order to execute the mid-course maneuver with greater assurance of success," a statement from the propulsion lab said, "it is necessary to know whether it is the moon or earth the sensor is looking at."

The course change may be attempted any time within the next few days, the lab added.

Rains May Postpone Start Of Street Work

Today's intermittent rain may postpone the plans of the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co., Inc., of Canton to start work Wednesday on a low-cost street surfacing program, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said.

The contracting firm may move in its equipment, but work is not expected to begin tomorrow unless there is a radical change in the weather, the director said. About 35 streets are scheduled for surfacing, with the city and property-owners dividing the cost.

The wet weather also forced the street department to postpone its plan for sealcoating of State St. between Pennsylvania Ave. and the River Rd. The project had been set for today.

A 23-year-old district man, spotted in the act of a burglary at an E. 5th St. restaurant just before midnight Sunday, was nabbed by a cordon of four officers who surrounded the place.

Robert W. Beatty of Apples Corners, who fled out a side door at the arrival of the four policemen, was charged with breaking and entering of the Arcade Restaurant, 412 E. 5th St., owned by Edgar N. Kinsey.

Arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Beatty pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary hearing and asked to be bound over to the Grand Jury. The court set his bond at $1,500.

Police were altered at 11:53 by a dispatcher at the Veterans Cab Co., which is in the rear of the Bus Terminal almost directly across the street from the restaurant. The dispatcher said an unidentified man walked into his office and said he believed someone was attempting to burglarize the restaurant.

The alert came in to headquarters at the time shifts were changing, which meant officers from both turns were available to surround the place.

Lt. W. E. McDaniel sent Patrolmen Jerry Adkins and Ronald Brookes in one cruiser to approach the restaurant from the front. He and Patrolman L. E. Richard approached from the rear in another car via Apple Alley, which runs alongside the restaurant, parallel with Broadway and Walnut St.

Patrolmen Adkins and Brookes said as they neared the building

Rebels In Algiers Claim Ben Bella Forces Stalled

ALGIERS (AP) — Rebel guerrilla forces stalled one column of Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's regular troops far south of Algiers today and claimed they repulsed another in heavy combat farther east.

Dozens were killed and wounded when Ben Bella's men attacked defenses in the mountain village of Oued Djenane south of Aumale with heavy and automatic weapons, the guerrilla command announced.

Aumale is 55 miles southeast of Algiers.

West of that area, fire from guerrillas stopped the northward advance of Col. Ahmed Ben Cherif's regulars at the village of Brazza, in the Berrouaghia sector some 65 miles by highway from Algiers.

During the night, scores of requisitioned trucks bore guerrilla reinforcements southward from Algiers to strengthen defense lines of the rebel Wilaya No. 4. Algiers itself was calm.

Berber guerrillas from Wilaya No. 3 of the Kabylie Mountains guarded the ancient casbah, which has been the scene of two bloody clashes in the past week between supporters of Ben Bella and the Wilaya No. 4 guerrillas who wrested this city from his Political Bureau.

Out-gunned guerrilla detachments took up defense positions in the suburbs of Algiers and vowed to hold the capital.

Advance elements of Ben Bella's 30,000 regulars were reported in the Medea area, 55 miles south of Algiers. Another column bypassed Orleansville and was reported less than 100 miles southwest of the city on the Oran-Algiers highway.

Some retreating guerrillas blew up bridges and barricaded mountain passes in an attempt to slow the Ben Bella thrust. Mostly the guerrillas fled or surrendered after brief encounters with the regular troops commanded by Col. Houari Boumedienne, the army chief of staff.

Civilian crowds organized by the guerrillas to block the invading soldiers' routes often cheered the regular army instead.

The small guerrilla forces equipped with rifles and light machine guns were no match for the army with its Communist bloc artillery, mortars and heavy machine guns.

Reports indicate about 10 persons have been killed and 30 wounded in the few skirmishes since Ben Bella's troops began their advance Saturday to wrest Algiers and the surrounding countryside from the control of the rebellious guerrillas of Wilaya (zone) No. 4.

Ben Bella told newsmen in Oran that his forces were under orders to avoid bloodshed where possible and that his advancing troops had "their rifles on their shoulders and their cannon covered with tarpaulins."

He said the Political Bureau, Algeria's de facto civilian government, is determined to re-establish its authority in Algiers, taken by the Wilaya 4 guerrilla command on Aug. 25.

Armed Units Guard 3 Crossings After Order To Russians

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. command in Berlin appeared ready today for a showdown with the Russians on Western demands that Soviet armored units take a shorter route to the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin.

U.S. soldiers in battle dress took up positions at the Sonnenallee, Oberbaum Bridge and Heinrich Heine Strasse crossing points in the Berlin wall. The crossings are normally manned by West Berlin police.

At Checkpoint Charlie, the fourth and principal U.S. sector crossing, U.S. soldiers were not wearing their battle gear. Howev-

City Teachers Air Plans To Open Schools

School bells will toll Wednesday morning summoning an estimated 5,738 city students back to classes.

The 1962-68 term was launched officially today with a general teachers' meeting at Westgate School followed by a meeting of principals.

Building meetings were to be held this afternoon.

The anticipated enrollment is the largest in the city's history but the actual enrollment is expected to run about 100 less, Supt. Ralph W. Betts said.

The enrollment figures show an estimated 3,105 in elementary schools, including 586 starting first grade; 1,427 in the two junior highs, and 1,206 in the high school.

Globe Strike Goes On With Bid Rejected

Federal Mediator Leaves And No New Negotiations Seen

The first strike in half a century against Globe Brick Co. in Newell continued into its fourth day today with 226 employes idled after the apparent collapse of negotiations for a new contract.

The employes are members of Local 647 of the International Brick and Clay Workers Union, whose two-year contract expired Friday midnight.

The local began picketing the plant in Kenilworth Saturday in a "no contract, no work" position.

Winston A. Porter, Globe president, said the company has not been advised by the local's negotiating committee on whether the firm's last offer has been accepted or rejected by the full membership.

But a spokesman for Local 647 said the offer has been rejected and George Woomer of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who has been attending contract talks under way since Aug. 1, has left the area.

A meeting was held by Local 647 this morning at 10 in the IOOF Hall in Newell. The local's negotiating team explained in de-

Adjustment Delayed

Scientists Check Venus Shot For Correction Try

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— Harried scientists, temporarily stymied in plans to point Venus space craft Mariner 2 nearer its destination, tried today to determine whether its antenna is aimed at the earth or moon.

They had hoped it had a lock on the earth.

The delicate mid-course correction of the 447-pound craft's route can still be made, the scientists said, but will take a while longer.

Project officials were just about to fire a small rocket motor on the flying space laboratory pointing it nearer its destination Monday when the question popped up.

They postponed the critical radio message to Mariner 2 ordering the adjustment for at least 24 hours.

Before that, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here—designer of the craft and its caretaker during flight—had announced the yard-wide antenna was properly aimed at earth.

Data radioed back from the craft as it plunged away from earth at more than 6,000 miles per hour indicated the antenna had swung out as ordered to its planned position Sunday.

The directional change of Mariner 2 is designed to bring it within 10,000 miles of the mystery planet next December. Without the maneuver, it will miss by more than 200,000 miles.

The special antenna, with a range of 64 million miles, is needed to pick up the direction-changing signal from earth.

The scientists say they can either try to point it again at earth or leave it possibly locked on the moon.

"However, in order to execute the mid-course maneuver with greater assurance of success," a statement from the propulsion lab said, "it is necessary to know whether it is the moon or earth the sensor is looking at."

The course change may be attempted any time within the next few days, the lab added.

Rains May Postpone Start Of Street Work

Today's intermittent rain may postpone the plans of the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co., Inc., of Canton to start work Wednesday on a low-cost street surfacing program, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said.

The contracting firm may move in its equipment, but work is not expected to begin tomorrow unless there is a radical change in the weather, the director said. About 35 streets are scheduled for surfacing, with the city and property-owners dividing the cost.

The wet weather also forced the street department to postpone its plan for sealcoating of State St. between Pennsylvania Ave. and the River Rd. The project had been set for today.

U.S. Spending Bolsters Sales For Retail Stores

NEW YORK (AP)—Thanks to the millions of Americans who go on spending and spending, some of the more cheerful news on Wall Street these days is being made by retailers and by many of the producers of consumer goods.

Retail stores and chains are reporting almost unanimously that the three months ending July 31 show profits increased over a year ago and over the first months of the year.

Soft good sales have held up well most of the year. In July, sales of many big ticket items and other durables snapped back after a dip in June. The better pace apparently held through August.

The spending money has come from increased personal income totals this year and from a revival of installment buying after some earlier hesitation. Also to be tapped as consumers decide is a record volume of savings in various forms. Stock market breaks in May and June dampened sales of some luxury items and may have caused the June dip in total retail sales.

In recent days the following retailers have announced profit gains over the May-June-July period of 1961: May Department Stores, Marshall Field, Reliable stores, Bullock's, Stix, Baer & Fuller, King's Department Stores.

Showing increased earnings for the first six months of their fiscal year, but dips in the latest quarter, are: Associated Dry Goods and Federated Department Stores. Also well ahead is Sears Roebuck.

Earlier earnings tabulations had shown retail and wholesale trade as a whole running 3 per cent ahead of the 1961 second quarter, and 11 per cent better than the first three months of this year.

The high rate of retail sales has boosted sales of a number of industries producing consumer goods. Many have translated this into higher profits.

Earnings after taxes in the textile and apparel industries averaged 60 per cent above the first half of 1961, although most of the gain came in this year's first quarter.

Suppliers of food products showed a gain of 17 per cent as a group for the first half of the year, with the second quarter 12 per cent better than the like period of 1961. Beverages posted modest gains, up 1 per cent in the second quarter and 3 per cent for the first six months.

Drugs, soaps and cosmetics topped first half of 1961 profits by 11 per cent, although this year the second quarter earnings slipped well below the first quarter figures. Tobacco companies trailed last year by 1 per cent for the half and 4 per cent for the second quarter.

Now all hands in the consumer goods industries and the retail field are watching for a seasonal pickup. Back to school promotions have been productive in most sections of the nation. What the returning vacationer will do about refurbishing the house and stocking the fall wardrobe will be revealed soon in retail sales figures.

Ahead lies motorists' reaction to the new car models, and after that the start of the Christmas trade.

But so far this year, corporate balance sheets show the consumer buying what he wants when he wants it and has the money. Competitive pricing has helped lure money from his pocket. Against this are higher returns on several forms of savings.

Apparently the consumer has listened to both temptors and has divided his increased total of income—more spending, more saving. So far he apparently hasn't paid much heed to prophets of doom.

Jaycees Give Out 500 Cups In Coffee Stop

More than 500 cups of coffee and 300 cups of soft drink were handed out by the East Liverpool Jaycees in a Labor Day coffee stop conducted for motorists Monday at the Loblaw lot on Dresden Ave.

The Jaycees operated the free coffee stop for travelers in an effort to get them to halt for a brief time and avoid highway fatigue and possible traffic accidents.

City police and the State Highway Patrol expressed pleasure over the project. The drivers and their passengers were offered coffee, soft drinks and doughnuts.

Most of the motorists were pleased with the effort and cars were registered from as far away as New York and New Jersey.

The Jaycees said a Swiss motorist and one from Germany also stopped. They were impressed with the hospitality.

Bob Miller was chairman. Fifteen Jaycees and several wives operated the project from early yesterday morning until about 10:30 p. m.

Television station Channel 4 of Pittsburgh, which took movies of the event for its news shows today, indicated this was the only such project in the Tri-State area.

Students Riot In 4 Areas Across U.S.

By The Associated Press

Rioters and rampagers—most of them ornery students — gave authorities a bad time during the Labor Day weekend at four spots in the nation.

The weekend battle scenes:

SEASIDE, Ore. — A number of youths and police suffered minor injuries as about 2,000 youths rioted Saturday. Windows were broken and other property damaged. Fire hoses were slashed. Gov. Mark Hatfield ordered a National Guard detachment into the area when the rioters threatened to storm the jail where about 100 youths were being held under arrest. There was a brief flareup of trouble Sunday. The crowd was soothed by a rock 'n' roll band playing from a rooftop while young people danced on the sand.

OCEAN CITY, Md.—Nightsticks bloodied heads, 49 youths were arrested and police dogs were used early Monday. Police, however, said the situation never was out of control and was mild compared to last Labor Day's two riots on the beach and a similar riot in 1960.

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. — Fifty-five youths were arrested on charges ranging from drunkenness to assault and inciting a riot after riots on Sunday night. The trouble included snake dances along Ocean Boulevard and fires in rubbish containers. Town officials said the trouble "stemmed from teen-age drinking." Quiet was restored by local police, state police and sheriff's deputies.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. — A Labor Day riot involving an estimated 250 persons in Central Park was set off by a fight between two boys. Two policemen were injured and six persons were arrested. About 10,000 persons on holiday outings had jammed the five-square-mile park. Police said all the rioters were Negroes. Mayor Malcolm Ellis ordered the park closed for the remainder of the day.

Catholic Schools End Segregation In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—More than half a century of segregation ends today in Roman Catholic schools of this Deep South city and in six nearby parishes.

New Orleans public schools on Thursday launch a third year of integration. Mayor Victor Schiro, city officials and civic and religious leaders have appealed for peace and order.

The New Orleans archdiocese, which has excommunicated three outspoken segregationists opposing the integration edict, did not disclose the number of Negroes or the schools involved as the city's 90 Catholic elementary schools opened their doors.

About 9,000 of New Orleans' 48,000 parochial school pupils are Negroes.

On Thursday, 127 Negroes are scheduled to integrate the first three grades of 21 New Orleans public schools—marking the city's most sweeping year of desegregation.

Four Negro first graders integrated two schools on Nov. 14, 1960 — Louisiana's first public school integration since Reconstruction. A white boycott followed and demonstrations erupted.

Last year 12 Negro first and second graders integrated a half dozen schools. There was no disorder.

Lisbon Driver Fined, Sentenced To 3 Days

LISBON — Robert C. Miller, 24, of 211 S. Lincoln Ave. was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to 3 days in jail Monday by Mayor Dean Stockman after he was found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Four other motorists forfeited bonds totaling $55 after being cited by village police.

John LaVolpa of Youngstown forfeited $10 for ignoring a stop sign and $15 for resisting arrest, and Earl William Pascute, 40, Warren; James R. Oliver, 26, Beloit R.D. 1, and James L. Pratt, 29, of Canton, $10 each for failing to obey the blinker light on the square.

St. Petersburg Lists 17 New 'Sleep' Cases

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Health authorities are urging residents not to panic because of Pinellas County's encephalitis epidemic, but to cooperate in removing breeding places for disease-bearing mosquitoes.

School authorities went ahead with plans to start fall classes today.

Seventeen new cases of encephalitis—sleeping sickness—were diagnosed during the past two days, health official said, bringing the county's total to 137. Ten deaths attributed to the disease have been reported in the county, and another four deaths elsewhere.

Holiday Sees Mild Weather

Mild and pleasant weather marked Labor Day for the Tri-State District and area parks reported below normal crowds for the last official holiday of summer.

September is the month of autumn—with summer to end Sept. 23.

The forenoon was partly cloudy but the sun was shining from noon on, raising temperatures into the 80's for ideal weather for outings.

Some 360 swimmers used the municipal pool in Thompson Park for the final time yesterday, William Bell, park superintendent, said.

However, there were "not too many picnics," Bell said, estimating the total crowd in the park between 700 and 800. Because of the threat of rain, some picnics were canceled, he said.

Attendance at Tomlinson Run State Park in Pughtown on Monday was one of the poorest in years, with about 1,500 picnickers and 300 patrons at the outdoor swimming pool, N. T. Holbrook, park supervisor, reported.

Holbrook added crowds were also light on Saturday and Sunday. The pool along State Route 2, and the boat docks at the lake, closed for the season Monday night.

There were 6,000 picnickers over the weekend, including Labor Day, at Raccoon Creek State Park, the office of George Armstrong, superintendent, reported.

There were also about 400 fishing, 1,000 in the camping area and also 1,000 visitors sightseeing.

There was rain Sunday and more again early today, with scattered showers expected to continue this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday. There will be little temperature change with a high of 76 and 84 forecast today and a low of 57 to 64 tonight. The downtown had 64 at 6 a.m. today.

EAST PALESTINE — The Municipal Swimming Pool was closed Monday night for the season. No official attendance figures were announced but from all indications a record number used the facility this year. Other facilities such as the tennis court and picnic tables will remain open as long as weather permits.

Rhodes Attacks DiSalle Program

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — James A. Rhodes says his proposal for a state industrial authority would provide "an aggressive branch of government to effectively compete with other states that now are not only grabbing off new industrial plants but are taking the ones we have."

In a Labor Day speech here, the Republican nominee for governor attacked Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's administration as reactionary. He charged that the Democratic administration "is complacently content to let Ohio drift backwards."

Rhodes said figures reported in the July issue of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's "Ohio Labor Market Information" showed that in the first half of 1962 Ohio had one-third of one per cent more non agricultural jobs than it had in the first half of 1959, compared with a national average increase of 6.7 per cent.

Franklin Township Joins County CD Unit

SUMMITVILLE — Franklin Township trustees Monday night voted to join a countywide Civilian Defense organization. John Wargo, a trustee, said he expects to attend a county meeting on the organization Thursday night at Lisbon.

Forrest Thompson, president, said all brush has been removed from the bank slopes along the road at the John Markeska farm.

Constable Forrest Jones reported he had patroled 250 miles in his cruiser, investigated one accident, issued seven warnings and responded to 11 telephone calls.

Bills totaling $1,162 were ordered paid. Next meeting is Sept. 17.

Lorain Inn Burns

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Eight firemen required first aid in fighting a blaze that destroyed the Gypsy Fiddle Inn Monday. Fire Chief Alfred G. Nickley, whose men fought for two hours to bring the fire under control, estimated damage at $32,000 to $40,000.

In Wellsville Celebration

W. J. Rose 'Outstanding Citizen'

Wayne J. Rose, center, was named Wellsville's "Outstanding Citizen" at the annual Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce Labor Day celebration Monday.

He is flanked by Nunzio S. Lombardozzi, left, Jaycee president, and Jerry Russell, who was chairman of the holiday event. He was given an engraved plaque.

Well - known in surrounding cities as a basketball official, Rose, 39, of 1513 Lincoln Ave., is an active member of many Wellsville civic organizations.

He is commissioner of Wellsville Little League Football, treasurer of the volunteer fire department and the Babe Ruth Baseball League, secretary of Hammond Park Commission, a member of the Southern Ruritan Club, and has been active in fund - raising campaigns of the Red Cross and Boy Scouts.

Employed as a kilnplacer at the Sterling China Co. for 21 years, he was Local 24's delegate to the IBOP convention this summer in San Francisco.

Rose was charter president of the Wellsville Jaycees, serving two terms. He is a graduate of Wellsville High School, and past president of the Columbiana County Officials' Association. Rose has been a scholastic basketball official for 11 years.

He is a member of Riverside United Presbyterian Church.

Twelve citizens were nominated for the award.

Other winners of the outstanding citizen award have been the late Dr. S. E. Daw, and Frank Wilson.

Preston Defends Highway Plan In Blast By Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's director of highways says a crash program to complete rural sections of Interstate 71 would have meant abandonment of expressway programs in metropolitan areas.

Highway Director E. S. Preston issued his remarks Monday in reply to criticism by Republican gubernatorial candidate James A. Rhodes. Rhodes attacked the incompletion of Interstate 71 and made a campaign promise to finish the highway in a speech Saturday near Medina.

"What Mr. Rhodes ignores is that we have used all available federal aid for interstate highways," Preston said. "As state auditor he should know this."

The director said metropolitan segments of the interstate system would have to have been eliminated to finance the rural portions of Interstate 71. He asked whether Rhodes would have ignored needs in Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Toledo, Akron, Dayton and Canton.

Man Kills Wife, Slays Self Near Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—A suburban Lockland woman was shot dead Monday by her divorced husband who then committed suicide with the same .38 caliber pistol.

The victims were Mrs. Clara Moore Burton, 31, and Fred Burton, 36. They were divorced more than a year ago but Burton recently moved back into her home in a reconciliation attempt.

Officers said Burton drove up alongside a car in which Mrs. Burton sat with her son by a former marriage and two other persons. He shot her after talking to her briefly, then turned the weapon on himself, they added.

4 Boys In Vandalism Placed Under Curfew

LISBON — Four Lisbon area boys, 13 and 14, were placed on a 9 p. m. curfew for the next 30 days and each ordered to pay $50 by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for damages to an unoccupied home in the R. D. 5 area.

The owner will be paid for the damages which she can prove was committed by the four and the balance will be turned over to charity. The youths allegedly broke windows and damaged the interior.

The people of Great Britain have the reputation of eating the most candy.

Ohio Man, 42, Jailed For Assault, Stabbing

PHILADLPHIA (AP)—Claude Flemming, 42, of Hebron, Ohio, who said he was en route to Chester, Pa., to claim the body of his estranged wife, has been jailed here on charges of aggravated assault and battery in an alleged stabbing.

Police arrested Flemming Sunday night after he and another man fought outside a bar. James Heron of Broomall, Pa., who fought with Flemming, suffered a wound in the stomach and was taken to a hospital for treatment.

Detectives quoted Flemming as saying he was en route to claim the body of his wife, Sophia, 37, who died Saturday of injuries suffered in a beating Aug. 20. Leonard Majeski, 27, of Woodlyn, Pa., is held on a homicide charge in the beating, police said.

Flemming's bond was set at $1,000.

Wellsville's Traffic Lights To Be Painted

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare of Wellsville said today all traffic lights will receive a new coat of paint this week.

He said all the signals, along with the switch boxes on the poles, will be painted yellow beginning Thursday. The work will be under the direction of Fire Chief Robert Lewis.

All the city's fireplugs have been flushed, Baldasare said. This work was completed last week under the direction of Lewis.

Speeding Driver Dies As Fire Sweeps Auto

HURON, Ohio (AP) — A car, being pursued by Huron police because it was speeding, went out of control today, sheared off a utility pole and slammed into some trees, killing a Mansfield man and injuring his companion.

Police said electric wires fell on the car and ignited its gasoline tank, enveloping the vehicle in flames. Trapped in the wreckage was the victim, Errol Swanger, 22. He lived at 312 Sheardan Ave.

A passenger, Jack Ehrmantrout, 17, of Mansfield, was thrown free of the wreckage. He was taken to a Sandusky Hospital with minor injuries.

According to the latest count, there are 1,761 daily newspapers in the United States.

Most Countries Help Their Merchant Ships

By WALTER HAMSHAR
Herald Tribune News Service

NEW YORK — Almost all the world's major nations extend some form of government aid to the merchant ships registered under their flags, according to a subsidy study made public by the Maritime Administration.

The study, which was prepared by Muriel W. Coe and Irwin M. Heine, chief of the agency's office of statistics, debunks the general impression that foreign nations that have been free with criticism of the United States for granting subsidies give no aid to their merchant shipping.

Norway is the only traditional maritime power which grants neither direct nor indirect help to its commercial ships. Liberia and Panama, although they are not among the world's first maritime powers, are not included in the study because most of their ships are owned by citizens of other nations.

"France and Italy stand out with regard to the amount of direct operating and constructions aid which each grants to its maritime industry," the report said. "In addition, they, as well as other countries, grant other financial aids which may include such items as tax relief, accelerated depreciation and loans."

The study also noted that ships of the traditional maritime nations such as England, Greece, Holland, Germany, France and Scandinavia enjoy another form of aid by carrying a greater percentage of their home nation's foreign trade. This is "as high as 62 per cent of total inbound and outbound trade," the report said, "while American ships carry only 10.5 per cent of this nation's foreign trade."

Direct shipbuilding subsidies are paid by two European nations, France and Italy. France pays a subsidy "to the builder to compensate for the difference between French and foreign costs." Italy pays a subsidy to the shipyard "based on tonnage and speed of the ship to be built."

France, Italy and Japan pay operating subsidies, according to the report. This is a fairly recent development. France recently adopted legislation "to offset the burden of operating costs." Italy passed a law May 23 which will mean an annual subsidy of $37.76 million to the ships in the Finmare group, including the Italian line. Japan has provided for $1.3 million in subsidies for fiscal 1961 and expects to increase the amount soon.

Tax benefits are the usual form of government aid offered by foreign nations to their shipping. Six motor maritime powers employ this method — West Germany, the United Kingdom, Greece, Italy, Japan and Sweden.

Accelerated depreciation, a special form of tax benefit, is permitted by Denmark, France, Japan and the Netherlands.

Another form of aid to foreign industry is through government sponsored long - term loans with low interest rates. France, West Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Sweden provide such loans.

France has a law requiring that two - thirds of its imported crude oil must be carried in French ships or ships whose charter has been approved by the government.

West Germany has laws barring foreign ships from trading between German ports except when no German ships are available. Known as "cabotage," the United States also has this law among other government aids for its shipping.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Back The Civic Music Drive

The annual membership drive of the Tri-State Civic Music Association is under way.

Through Civic Music some of the outstanding talent in the musical world is made available to local and district residents.

Previous concerts have brought only favorable comment and this season's program looks every bit as inviting. Civic Music provides an important cultural phase of our community life. It would be a sad day indeed were it to disappear because of lack of interest. Your continued patronage can make certain this doesn't happen.

More than 100 volunteer workers are assisting in the membership campaign, with the deadline for turning in memberships noon Saturday.

It would be gratifying if this year's drive should prove the best ever. We need Civic Music.

Repeat In Order

While there were some hitches, the concensus is that the regatta sponsored here Sunday by the Junior Chamber of Commerce proved quite successful.

It was a worthwhile and entertaining promotion for a city which can boast of the Ohio River as one of its assets.

The regatta deserves to be repeated in 1963, and the Jaycees already are thinking in that direction.

Making Seat Belts Attractive

It seems absurd sometimes to pay attention to the importance of auto seat belts when professional and amateur race drivers are risking their lives and losing them in the name of sport. But out of much agitation and discussion may come the change of mind and heart that someday will make auto seat belts as universal as safety glass.

The first step is being taken — state laws making seat belt fittings and belts mandatory. This was the lever with which the old-fashioned window-glass auto window was routed in favor of safety glass.

The second step is still potential — insurance regulations that would make it either impossible or prohibitively expensive to operate a car without equipment to hold passengers in their seats in the event of a collision. Insurance companies may hold the ultimate key.

The third step is still potential too — improved designs that would eliminate the faults of equipment now in existence. Importance resistance to safety glass developed when the first windows made of it became discolored. This was overcome later by glass that retained its clarity.

Whoever could design an auto seat belt that would enfold a passenger automatically, preferably by the shoulders instead of the waist, would not have to go to Detroit to attract attention. Detroit would be beating a path to his door; i.e., his auto door — the one that usually flies open in a collision, ejecting the unanchored occupants of the car and causing injury that could have been averted if they had been held in place.

Watch The Kids!

Safe driving becomes ever more important as district youngsters head back to school.

Through an extensive educational program, traffic casualties have been greatly reduced among those of school age. You can do your part to cut the toll even more. As of this week, safe driving becomes an even greater responsibility to the individual resident.

Supreme Court's Size

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It wasn't always this simple, or quiet.

There's hardly a ripple when President Kennedy appoints Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg to succeed retiring Justice Felix Frankfurter on the Supreme Court. But then he was only filling a vacancy.

The storms have come over changing the size of the court, and attempts. The court has been packed and repacked. Its size has been changed seven times.

It's almost incredible how sloppy historians have been about pulling together in one book or paper the number of changes in the size and the reasons, which have been almost always political.

These were the changes: in 1801—from six justices to five; 1802—five to six; 1807—six to seven; 1837—seven to nine; 1863—nine to ten; 1866—ten to seven; 1869—back up to nine. There has been no change since.

The Constitution did not fix the number of justices. That was left to Congress. The very first Congress, by the Judiciary Act of Sept. 24, 1789, set the number of justices at six: a chief justice and five associates.

This act also created 13 District Courts and three Circuit Courts. This meant the Supreme Court justices had to find time to travel to the circuits where two of them, with a district judge, made up a Circuit Court. The justices had to ride circuit for years.

President Washington and Adams, being Federalists, naturally enough filled the early court with Federalists. This irked Thomas Jefferson and his Republicans. In the elections of 1800 the Federalists lost the presidency and control of Congress to Jeffersonians.

At that time a new president could not take office until March 4, following the elections. Just before Jefferson entered the White House in 1801 the Federalists-run Congress reduced the number of justices from six to five. The Jeffersonians promptly hit back.

In 1802 they boosted the number of justices back to six. In 1803 the still Federalist-dominated court upheld the act of 1802. The next enlargement was perhaps the least political of all.

This was in 1807. The reason was pointed out by Frankfurter back in the 1920s while he was still a professor at Harvard and before he went on the court himself.

After Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio became states a demand for a circuit court to take care of them became insistent. This meant more circuit-riding for the justices. So a new circuit was provided along with an increase in the number of Supreme Court justices, from six to seven.

In 1837 the number was raised to nine. Fred Rodell of Yale says this was done to handle the new western and southwestern circuits. But Edward S. Crowin of Princeton, outstanding authority on the Constitution, puts a slightly different light on it.

He said the two additions were made with the "probably intended and certainly realized result of watering down the influence" on the court of the great Federalist Chief Justice John Marshall who had died two years before in 1835 after 34 years on the court.

In 1863, during the Civil War when Congress was anxious to keep the West away from the Confederacy, California was given a circuit court and the number of justices was upped from nine to ten. As the 10th justice President Lincoln named Stephen J. Field — a Californian and a strong Unionist.

In 1866 President Andrew Johnson was having such a foul time with the Radical Republican Congress that it shrank the court to seven by saying no vacancies should be filed till the total of justices was down to that number.

This was to keep Johnson from getting anybody on the court who might be antagonistic to Republican reconstruction legislation.

But by 1869 there was a new president, Ulysses S. Grant. He got along much better with the Radicals. Because they controlled him, they felt safe about his Supreme Court appointments. So they raised the number back up to nine.

In 1937 President Roosevelt got a lot of criticism, but no action from Congress, when he asked to have the nine-man court enlarged. That reactionary court had made hash out of his New Deal legislation in 1935 and 1936.

But the storm over his proposal and the public attention it focused on their work, seems to have made the justices self-conscious. Almost at once in 1937 they began approving New Deal policies.

Oddly enough, when Roosevelt sent his message to Congress asking for enlargement and citing other changes in the court to show that change was not new, he forgot to mention the change in 1802.

Block That Kick!

By Truman Twill

Now they're doing to football what darned near killed baseball for some of us. . . .

"The ball was handed off to Musselman who drove off tackle for four, make it three, yards. This was Musselman's sixteenth carry in this game and his one hundred and seventy-eighth of the season. His average is four and three-tenths yards. He has caught eighteen passes for a total of two hundred and seven yards, fumbled thirteen times, weighs two hundred and six pounds, was born on the south side of the street in a town called Pigeon Poacher, South Carolina, is married and he and his twenty-two-year-old wife Peggy are the parents of Chunky, age three, Plunky, age two, and Klunky, age one, all boys. The Musselmans live in Pigeon Poacher off-season, where papa runs a feed store that belonged to his uncle, Fats Musselman, who formerly played a lot of standing guard for the Seattle Blubbers. Fats weighed in at more than three hundred pounds in his playing days.

"On the next down, the ball went to Musselman again and he drove forty-seven yards for a touchdown. As we were saying, Fats Musselman, the uncle, weighed only a few pounds less than a truck when he was with the Blubbers. And now we pause for commercial identification. . ."

Football is being statisticalized, and if you can't pronouce the word just say that the fools who destroyed the fun and color that used to be in baseball with endless spatters and patters of dull information have been applying their misguided energies to the gridiron.

The net effect is to make the players seem like puppets whose moves are determined by statistical strings jerked by the law of averages instead of the animal vigor of exuberant males hell-bent on breaking one another's bones in an orgy of controlled mayhem.

The point is, fellows, you're taking the juice out of sports by drying up everything with statistics.

Lay off.

Let the boys have fun. Let us spectators have fun too. Keep the statistics to yourself.

Shucks! I Hadn't Expected Her Any Way

Confusion Continues Over Tax Cut

By Raymond Moley

When a president like John F. Kennedy, whose ingrained political motivations are so well established, makes a major decision in domestic affairs, we must assume that his reason is predominately political.

In deciding against asking for a tax cut now, he was seeking to avoid another disaster in Congress, which probably would end in a disaster at the polls in November. He well knows to ask for the cut now would end in such a conflict in Congress that there would be no decision there at all.

Also, if he revealed what kind of tax cut he wants, his party would be sharply divided. For what the AFL-CIO and his academic advisors want is a world apart from what the business community and the conservatives in Congress are thinking about.

Beyond the political aspects of the subject, however, is an unbridgable chasm in economic philsophy.

There are those who believe in forcing economic growth through tax cuts of a calculated inflationary character.

OTHERS BELIEVE in permitting economic growth through investment.

The other would relax the tax the hands of consumers generally.

The other would reax the tax burden on those who would, through investment, provide more jobs and more risk capital to develop new forms of production.

Mr. Kennedy paid certain verbal respects to the business community in this sentence:

"The administration intends to cut taxes in order to build the fundamental strength of our economy; to remove a serious barrier to long term growth; to increase incentive by rooting out inequities and complexities; and to prevent the even greater deficit that a lagging economy would otherwise surely produce."

But in mentioning deficits there was no word about the shortest route to deficit cutting, which is to reduce federal spending.

We may assume that the President still is firmly convinced, as are his academic advisers, that lavish spending programs are not a deterrent but a means for economic growth.

To abandon that belief would be to reverse his direction entirely and cause a sharp break with his most powerful allies — labor leaders and others.

THOSE ALLIES argue somewhat inconsistently that we recovered in the 1930s because of federal spending and also that if we did not recover then, it was because the government did not spend enough.

The fact is — and this can be proved by the statistics of those years — that recovery began in 1933 and continued while prudent spending was the rule, and that growth slowed down almost to a standstill after spending increased after 1936.

If we failed to run a larger deficit in 1939 — the last pre-defense-spending year — was because the president and Congress prevented it. But even then the deficit was larger than it was in the depths of the depression. And unemployment rose rather than fell.

The other point of view is that the only lasting means of growth is to lighten the tax burden on those individuals and businesses which will use what they save in capital investment.

Also, that such investments are encouraged when prudent spending policies offer an assurance that we will not be caught in a tide of inflation.

The prospect of inflation, which would be inevitable with a deficit of such proportions as a tax cut would produce — perhaps as much as $15 billion — would confront the management of industry with the dire prospect that any enlargement of plant or new product development might entail prohibitive costs.

Such a deficit would also frighten foreign investors here and spark a major withdrawal of our already depleted supply of gold.

WITH A LOSS of faith in the dollar here, there might well be that hysterical flight from money into goods which is the really deadly phase of inflation.

In such a panic all sense of values is forgotten and the economy rushes into the final disaster.

Savings would be ransacked and wiped out. Long-term federal bonds would go begging in a disbelieving market, the printing presses would whirr and the end would be vast unemployment and distress.

These are lessons that can be read in the history of countries on the continent of Europe. And those countries which have felt the impact of such disasters will read the signs here in the United States better than we can or than Mr. Kennedy's advisers can admit.

What now are being demanded by conservatives of both parties in Congress are specifications on tax reform from the administration.

If the proposal is merely to cut deductions, individual and corporate, few intelligent people are interested. Such paring away of those items will produce little revenue. Nor are suggestions, leaked out from the administration, for ending tax benefits in profit sharing, capital gains, pensions plans and the like, enough to meet the losses occasioned by an across-the-board tax cut. And we well may be assured that no serious effort will be suggested to close certain gaping loopholes such as cooperative exemptions, savings and loan advantages, and the like.

Real reform in taxation might well end in a hopeless congressional deadlock. At present, the promise of relief without a promise of government economy is merely an exercise in make-believe.

Odd Facts

Authorizations from the pension fund of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters have been made in the form of millions of dollars worth of mortgage loans. Among them is one for three million dollars to help build a new general hospital in North Miami, Fla., and another for half a million for the Miami Beach Hebrew Academy.

There are more pets than people in the U. S. While dogs, cats and tropical fish still occupy the first three places in the popularity list, the number and variety of other American pets is astonishing — including such members of the animal kingdom as snakes, monkeys, skunks, turtles, mice, ants, and so on and on.

Hitler's Ghost

By Gerald Waring

Canadian Politician Stirs Tempest

OTTAWA

Even after 17 years it's bad form for a Canadian politician to admire anything about Hitler and Mussolini.

Real Caquette, the Quebec leader of the Canadian Social Credit party, said he admired the economic policies of the Axis leaders, and earned the opprobrium of his political foes and a reprimand from the National Social Credit leader, Robert N. Thompson.

And such is the delicate balance of parties in Canada's new Parliament that this reprimand could split the Social Credit group and help trigger another Parliamentary election this fall.

The Social Credit party holds the balance of power in the House of Commons elected June 18.

Its 30 MPs can sustain in office the minority conservative administration of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

ALTERNATIVELY they can vote with the liberals and the new democrats to withhold confidence from the administration, and thus force a new election, perhaps as early as Dec. 10.

Parliament will convene on Sept. 27.

Mr. Caquette, who heads a contingent of 26 French-speaking Social Credit MPs from Quebec, was quoted as having said in an interview that Mussolini and Hitler were his political heroes.

"I admire Mussolini's quality as leader and I regret he was a Fascist," Mr. Caquette said. "I admire in Hitler his economic reforms and I consider that he brought his people out of misery. I regret that he employed for war instead of for peace the ideas which he had."

Later, Mr. Caquette amplified his remarks by saying that his admiration of the Fascist leaders was confined to their economic policies during the depression of the '30s.

Within hours, Social Credit leader Thompson telephoned from Ottawa to Mr. Caquette in Montreal and reprimanded his deputy.

"I told him," Mr. Thompson said, "that he would have to take sole responsibility for his statements, that he did not speak for the party, and that this kind of thing was exceedingly bad."

Commenting on Mr. Caquette's remarks, liberal leader Lester B. Pearson said, "This shocking statement will outrage every decent Canadian and earn only contempt for Mr. Caquette."

New democratic leader T. C. Douglas described the Social Credit party as "The John Birch Society of Canada . . . fascistic in its outlook and approach to many of the economic problems of this country."

There was no immediate reaction from the conservatives, whose tenuous hold on office depends on Social Credit support in the Commons.

THE INCIDENT is the sharpest of many that have strained relations between Mr. Thompson and the man he defeated for the party leadership last year. Mr. Thompson leads a contingent of only four-SoCredit MPs from Alberta, the home of Social Credit, and has been overshadowed by Mr. Caquette, whose control of the 26 Quebec SoCreds gives him effective control over SoCred strategy in Parliament.

Mr. Thompson has suggested strongly that the opposition parties should avoid defeating the government in the House this fall, and thus avoid the need for another election this year.

Mr. Caquette has stated vehemently that the sooner the Diefenbaker government is defeated and a new election brought on, the better for the country. He has said he will campaign on snowshoes, if necessary, to oust the conservatives this winter.

Under questioning, Mr. Thompson spoke of a likelihood that the SoCred Parliamentary caucus would take "some action" to deal with Mr. Caquette. But unless Mr. Caquette's Quebec followers desert him, he would appear to be the likely winner of any test of strength with Mr. Thompson.

Mr. K's Cuban Tiger

By Marguerite Higgins

When Castro announced recently that 1,000 Cubans would be sent to Moscow to study agriculture, a Latin American diplomat in this town was moved to comment: "Well, Cuba's economy may be collapsing and its sugar crop failing, but Fidel hasn't lost his sense of humor."

To outsiders, it may be a grotesque joke that Castro should offer a mission to Moscow, the original home of modern agricultural failures, as a panacea for Cuba's desperate plight. To insiders, it is a mark of just how desperate that plight is.

After Moscow's triumphant twosome in the sky, it is understandable that Washington has been slow to exploit the newest evidence of Moscow's stunning failure to export a workable Communist system on this earth.

And besides, Washington's Latin experts have been hard put to believe that even with Dr. Castro running things, anything could be quite as bad as reports (from diplomatic allies in Havana and from refugees) indicated.

BUT WITHOUT spilling any secrets, it can be authoritatively stated that Cuba's present troubles this summer include these items:

1. Despite $400 million worth of credits from the Soviet Union, which incidentally has no prospect of repayment, Castro has not only lost his sugar crop but imposed such disorganization on agriculture that inflation and artificial scarcities have taken over.

Even once plentiful oranges cannot be had except by medical prescription from a doctor who certifies that they are essential to the health of patient.

2. Cuban industrial production is in the same mess as Cuban agriculture and even shoes are rationed.

3. Sabotage is on the rise with the favorite targets being vehicles shipped in from Moscow. Havana is a place where the "breakdown" of a Moscow made bus is viewed with secret conspiratorial glee at this sign that resistance goes on.

4. There have been small but successful rebel landings on remote Cuban beaches.

5. In the last two months there have been demonstrations against the regime and assaults on Castro's soldiers and militiamen.

How long can Premier Khrushchev, who has lately been complaining of the high cost of the space and armaments race, afford the cost of subsidizing failure in the Carribean?

And what about the embarrassment? Can Mr. Khrushchev afford this continuing demonstration that Communism is disastrous medicine for under-developed countries, like Cuba, as well as for developed countries, like East Germany?

MR. KHRUSHCHEV cannot escape the blame. Red China made its own mess. But Cuba's mess is Mr. Khrushchev's mess. After all it was Mr. Khrushchev personally who gleefully welcomed Castro to the Communist camp when he defected 2½ years ago.

Castro may be a little savage with orthodox Communists who appear more loyal to Moscow than to him. But he has, after all, publicly taken the pledge to Marxism - Leninism. Could Mr. Khrushchev turn his back on such a famous idealogical convert?

But now that he has the Cuban tiger by the tail, there are indeed signs that Mr. Khrushchev would indeed like to let him go, but doesn't quite know how.

Soviet officials in Havana have been known to express to colleagues their exasperation with Castro's flair for disregarding the tedium of getting things organized. Their boss, Mr. Khrushchev, has also expressed a certain impatience.

When Cuban students recently visited him in Moscow, Mr. Khrushchev reminded them sharply that "Soviet aid alone can't solve your problems." and told them to go home and crusade for "sacrifices and work" by the Cuban people.

DR. CASTRO'S reaction has been to blame everything on the "social parasites," namely the workers who are staying away from the Communist run factories in droves.

So far, Castro, despite many cruelties, has proved unable, or perhaps temperamentally incapable of imposing total terror on the Cubans — the degree of terror required for instance to leave a worker far too frightened of the police to dream of staying away from the factory without a bona fide medical reason.

Although Marx didn't plan it that way Cuba has become a place where the people almost literally have nothing to lose but their chains. And in Washington the experts now agree that the coming winter will tell the tale of whether Castro can resist being overthrown — thus solving everybody's problem, including Mr. Khrushchev's.

This was in 1807. The reason was pointed out by Frankfurter back in the 1920s while he was still a professor at Harvard and before he went on the court himself.

After Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio became states a demand for a circuit court to take care of them became insistent. This meant more circuit-riding for the justices. So a new circuit was provided along with an increase in the number of Supreme Court justices, from six to seven.

In 1837 the number was raised to nine. Fred Rodell of Yale says this was done to handle the new western and southwestern circuits. But Edward S. Crowin of Princeton, outstanding authority on the Constitution, puts a slightly different light on it.

He said the two additions were made with the "probably intended and certainly realized result of watering down the influence" on the court of the great Federalist Chief Justice John Marshall who had died two years before in 1835 after 34 years on the court.

In 1863, during the Civil War when Congress was anxious to keep the West away from the Confederacy, California was given a circuit court and the number of justices was upped from nine to ten. As the 10th justice President Lincoln named Stephen J. Field — a Californian and a strong Unionist.

In 1866 President Andrew Johnson was having such a foul time with the Radical Republican Congress that it shrank the court to seven by saying no vacancies should be filled till the total of justices was down to that number.

This was to keep Johnson from getting anybody on the court who might be antagonistic to Republican reconstruction legislation.

But by 1869 there was a new president, Ulysses S. Grant. He got along much better with the Radicals. Because they controlled him, they felt safe about his Supreme Court appointments. So they raised the number back up to nine.

In 1937 President Roosevelt got a lot of criticism, but no action from Congress, when he asked to have the nine-man court enlarged. That reactionary court had made hash out of his New Deal legislation in 1935 and 1936.

But the storm over his proposal and the public attention it focused on their work, seems to have made the justices self-conscious. Almost at once in 1937 they began approving New Deal policies.

Oddly enough, when Roosevelt sent his message to Congress asking for enlargement and citing other changes in the court to show that change was not new, he forgot to mention the change in 1802.

Block That Kick!

By Truman Twill

Now they're doing to football what darned near killed baseball for some of us. . . .

"The ball was handed off to Musselman who drove off tackle for four, make it three, yards. This was Musselman's sixteenth carry in this game and his one hundred and seventy-eighth of the season. His average is four and three-tenths yards. He has caught eighteen passes for a total of two hundred and seven yards, fumbled thirteen times, weighs two hundred and six pounds, was born on the south side of the street in a town called Pigeon Poacher, South Carolina, is married and he and his twenty-two-year-old wife Peggy are the parents of Chunky, age three, Plunky, age two, and Klunky, age one, all boys. The Musselmans live in Pigeon Poacher off-season, where papa runs a feed store that belonged to his uncle, Fats Musselman, who formerly played a lot of standing guard for the Seattle Blubbers. Fats weighed in at more than three hundred pounds in his playing days.

"On the next down, the ball went to Musselman again and he drove forty-seven yards for a touchdown. As we were saying, Fats Musselman, the uncle, weighed only a few pounds less than a truck when he was with the Blubbers. And now we pause for commercial identification. . ."

Football is being statisticalized, and if you can't pronouce the word just say that the fools who destroyed the fun and color that used to be in baseball with endless spatters and patters of dull information have been applying their misguided energies to the gridiron.

The net effect is to make the players seem like puppets whose moves are determined by statistical strings jerked by the law of averages instead of the animal vigor of exuberant males hell-bent on breaking one another's bones in an orgy of controlled mayhem.

The point is, fellows, you're taking the juice out of sports by drying up everything with statistics.

Lay off.

Let the boys have fun. Let us spectators have fun too. Keep the statistics to yourself.

Shucks! I Hadn't Expected Her Any Way

Confusion Continues Over Tax Cut

By Raymond Moley

When a president like John F. Kennedy, whose ingrained political motivations are so well established, makes a major decision in domestic affairs, we must assume that his reason is predominately political.

In deciding against asking for a tax cut now, he was seeking to avoid another disaster in Congress, which probably would end in a disaster at the polls in November. He well knows to ask for the cut now would end in such a conflict in Congress that there would be no decision there at all.

Also, if he revealed what kind of tax cut he wants, his party would be sharply divided. For what the AFL-CIO and his academic advisors want is a world apart from what the business community and the conservatives in Congress are thinking about.

Beyond the political aspects of the subject, however, is an unbridgable chasm in economic philsophy.

There are those who believe in forcing economic growth through tax cuts of a calculated inflationary character.

OTHERS BELIEVE in permitting economic growth through investment.

The other would relax the tax the hands of consumers generally.

The other would reax the tax burden on those who would, through investment, provide more jobs and more risk capital to develop new forms of production.

Mr. Kennedy paid certain verbal respects to the business community in this sentence:

"The administration intends to cut taxes in order to build the fundamental strength of our economy; to remove a serious barrier to long term growth; to increase incentive by rooting out inequities and complexities; and to prevent the even greater deficit that a lagging economy would otherwise surely produce."

But in mentioning deficits there was no word about the shortest route to deficit cutting, which is to reduce federal spending.

We may assume that the President still is firmly convinced, as are his academic advisers, that lavish spending programs are not a deterrent but a means for economic growth.

To abandon that belief would be to reverse his direction entirely and cause a sharp break with his most powerful allies — labor leaders and others.

THOSE ALLIES argue somewhat inconsistently that we recovered in the 1930s because of federal spending and also that if we did not recover then, it was because the government did not spend enough.

The fact is — and this can be proved by the statistics of those years — that recovery began in 1933 and continued while prudent spending was the rule, and that growth slowed down almost to a standstill after spending increased after 1936.

If we failed to run a larger deficit in 1939 — the last pre-defense-spending year — was because the president and Congress prevented it. But even then the deficit was larger than it was in the depths of the depression. And unemployment rose rather than fell.

The other point of view is that the only lasting means of growth is to lighten the tax burden on those individuals and businesses which will use what they save in capital investment.

Also, that such investments are encouraged when prudent spending policies offer an assurance that we will not be caught in a tide of inflation.

The prospect of inflation, which would be inevitable with a deficit of such proportions as a tax cut would produce — perhaps as much as $15 billion — would confront the management of industry with the dire prospect that any enlargement of plant or new product development might entail prohibitive costs.

Such a deficit would also frighten foreign investors here and spark a major withdrawal of our already depleted supply of gold.

WITH A LOSS of faith in the dollar here, there might well be that hysterical flight from money into goods which is the really deadly phase of inflation.

In such a panic all sense of values is forgotten and the economy rushes into the final disaster.

Savings would be ransacked and wiped out. Long-term federal bonds would go begging in a disbelieving market, the printing presses would whirr and the end would be vast unemployment and distress.

These are lessons that can be read in the history of countries on the continent of Europe. And those countries which have felt the impact of such disasters will read the signs here in the United States better than we can or than Mr. Kennedy's advisers can admit.

What now are being demanded by conservatives of both parties in Congress are specifications on tax reform from the administration.

If the proposal is merely to cut deductions, individual and corporate, few intelligent people are interested. Such paring away of those items will produce little revenue. Nor are suggestions, leaked out from the administration, for ending tax benefits in profit sharing, capital gains, pensions plans and the like, enough to meet the losses occasioned by an across-the-board tax cut. And we well may be assured that no serious effort will be suggested to close certain gaping loopholes such as cooperative exemptions, savings and loan advantages, and the like.

Real reform in taxation might well end in a hopeless congressional deadlock. At present, the promise of relief without a promise of government economy is merely an exercise in make-believe.

Odd Facts

Authorizations from the pension fund of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters have been made in the form of millions of dollars worth of mortgage loans. Among them is one for three million dollars to help build a new general hospital in North Miami, Fla., and another for half a million for the Miami Beach Hebrew Academy.

There are more pets than people in the U. S. While dogs, cats and tropical fish still occupy the first three places in the popularity list, the number and variety of other American pets is astonishing — including such members of the animal kingdom as snakes, monkeys, skunks, turtles, mice, ants, and so on and on.

Hitler's Ghost

By Gerald Waring

Canadian Politician Stirs Tempest

OTTAWA

Even after 17 years it's bad form for a Canadian politician to admire anything about Hitler and Mussolini.

Real Caquette, the Quebec leader of the Canadian Social Credit party, said he admired the economic policies of the Axis leaders, and earned the opprobrium of his political foes and a reprimand from the National Social Credit leader, Robert N. Thompson.

And such is the delicate balance of parties in Canada's new Parliament that this reprimand could split the Social Credit group and help trigger another Parliamentary election this fall.

The Social Credit party holds the balance of power in the House of Commons elected June 18.

Its 30 MPs can sustain in office the minority conservative administration of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

ALTERNATIVELY they can vote with the liberals and the new democrats to withhold confidence from the administration, and thus force a new election, perhaps as early as Dec. 10.

Parliament will convene on Sept. 27.

Mr. Caquette, who heads a contingent of 26 French-speaking Social Credit MPs from Quebec, was quoted as having said in an interview that Mussolini and Hitler were his political heroes.

"I admire Mussolini's quality as leader and I regret he was a Fascist," Mr. Caquette said. "I admire in Hitler his economic reforms and I consider that he brought his people out of misery. I regret that he employed for war instead of for peace the ideas which he had."

Later, Mr. Caquette amplified his remarks by saying that his admiration of the Fascist leaders was confined to their economic policies during the depression of the '30s.

Within hours, Social Credit leader Thompson telephoned from Ottawa to Mr. Caquette in Montreal and reprimanded his deputy.

"I told him," Mr. Thompson said, "that he would have to take sole responsibility for his statements, that he did not speak for the party, and that this kind of thing was exceedingly bad."

Commenting on Mr. Caquette's remarks, liberal leader Lester B. Pearson said, "This shocking statement will outrage every decent Canadian and earn only contempt for Mr. Caquette."

New democratic leader T. C. Douglas described the Social Credit party as "The John Birch Society of Canada . . . fascistic in its outlook and approach to many of the economic problems of this country."

There was no immediate reaction from the conservatives, whose tenuous hold on office depends on Social Credit support in the Commons.

THE INCIDENT is the sharpest of many that have strained relations between Mr. Thompson and the man he defeated for the party leadership last year. Mr. Thompson leads a contingent of only four-SoCredit MPs from Alberta, the home of Social Credit, and has been overshadowed by Mr. Caquette, whose control of the 26 Quebec SoCreds gives him effective control over SoCred strategy in Parliament.

Mr. Thompson has suggested strongly that the opposition parties should avoid defeating the government in the House this fall, and thus avoid the need for another election this year.

Mr. Caquette has stated vehemently that the sooner the Diefenbaker government is defeated and a new election brought on, the better for the country. He has said he will campaign on snowshoes, if necessary, to oust the conservatives this winter.

Under questioning, Mr. Thompson spoke of a likelihood that the SoCred Parliamentary caucus would take "some action" to deal with Mr. Caquette. But unless Mr. Caquette's Quebec followers desert him, he would appear to be the likely winner of any test of strength with Mr. Thompson.

Mr. K's Cuban Tiger

By Marguerite Higgins

When Castro announced recently that 1,000 Cubans would be sent to Moscow to study agriculture, a Latin American diplomat in this town was moved to comment: "Well, Cuba's economy may be collapsing and its sugar crop failing, but Fidel hasn't lost his sense of humor."

To outsiders, it may be a grotesque joke that Castro should offer a mission to Moscow, the original home of modern agricultural failures, as a panacea for Cuba's desperate plight. To insiders, it is a mark of just how desperate that plight is.

After Moscow's triumphant twosome in the sky, it is understandable that Washington has been slow to exploit the newest evidence of Moscow's stunning failure to export a workable Communist system on this earth.

And besides, Washington's Latin experts have been hard put to believe that even with Dr. Castro running things, anything could be quite as bad as reports (from diplomatic allies in Havana and from refugees) indicated.

BUT WITHOUT spilling any secrets, it can be authoritatively stated that Cuba's present troubles this summer include these items:

1. Despite $400 million worth of credits from the Soviet Union, which incidentally has no prospect of repayment, Castro has not only lost his sugar crop but imposed such disorganization on agriculture that inflation and artificial scarcities have taken over.

Even once plentiful oranges cannot be had except by medical prescription from a doctor who certifies that they are essential to the health of patient.

2. Cuban industrial production is in the same mess as Cuban agriculture and even shoes are rationed.

3. Sabotage is on the rise with the favorite targets being vehicles shipped in from Moscow. Havana is a place where the "breakdown" of a Moscow made bus is viewed with secret conspiratorial glee at this sign that resistance goes on.

4. There have been small but successful rebel landings on remote Cuban beaches.

5. In the last two months there have been demonstrations against the regime and assaults on Castro's soldiers and militiamen.

How long can Premier Khrushchev, who has lately been complaining of the high cost of the space and armaments race, afford the cost of subsidizing failure in the Carribean?

And what about the embarrassment? Can Mr. Khrushchev afford this continuing demonstration that Communism is disastrous medicine for under-developed countries, like Cuba, as well as for developed countries, like East Germany?

MR. KHRUSHCHEV cannot escape the blame. Red China made its own mess. But Cuba's mess is Mr. Khrushchev's mess. After all it was Mr. Khrushchev personally who gleefully welcomed Castro to the Communist camp when he defected 2½ years ago.

Castro may be a little savage with orthodox Communists who appear more loyal to Moscow than to him. But he has, after all, publicly taken the pledge to Marxism - Leninism. Could Mr. Khrushchev turn his back on such a famous idealogical convert?

But now that he has the Cuban tiger by the tail, there are indeed signs that Mr. Khrushchev would indeed like to let him go, but doesn't quite know how.

Soviet officials in Havana have been known to express to colleagues their exasperation with Castro's flair for disregarding the tedium of getting things organized. Their boss, Mr. Khrushchev, has also expressed a certain impatience.

When Cuban students recently visited him in Moscow, Mr. Khrushchev reminded them sharply that "Soviet aid alone can't solve your problems." and told them to go home and crusade for "sacrifices and work" by the Cuban people.

DR. CASTRO'S reaction has been to blame everything on the "social parasites," namely the workers who are staying away from the Communist run factories in droves.

So far, Castro, despite many cruelties, has proved unable, or perhaps temperamentally incapable of imposing total terror on the Cubans — the degree of terror required for instance to leave a worker far too frightened of the police to dream of staying away from the factory without a bona fide medical reason.

Although Marx didn't plan it that way Cuba has become a place where the people almost literally have nothing to lose but their chains. And in Washington the experts now agree that the coming winter will tell the tale of whether Castro can resist being overthrown — thus solving everybody's problem, including Mr. Khrushchev's.

Forest Rangers, Zoo Keepers Or Police?

OMAHA (AP) — Whether to retire a 25 year member of the Omaha Police Force has prompted a major debate. The veteran is the buffalo which stands atop every Omaha police officer's badge.

A poll of members of the force showed them split over the suggestion of Public Safety Commissioner Chris Gugas that the badge be streamlined and the bison removed.

Agreed a sergeant: "The buffalo dominates the whole badge. There's a risk people might think you're a forest ranger or a zoo keeper."

they saw Beatty inside, attempting to pry open the coin box of a shuffle alley with a screw driver. Spotting the two policemen, Beatty ran out the side door and headed south in Apple Alley, police said.

Officer Adkins drew his pistol and shouted to Beatty to halt, Lt. McDaniel said. The suspect surrendered. Police said $5 in change was found in his pockets, loot from a music machine forced open before the arrival of police.

The suspect was in custody one minute after the alert was received, Lt. McDaniel said.

Entry was gained by forcing open a screen door in the Apple Alley side of the building, then prying open the inner door with a screw driver, Lt. McDaniel said. The two machines are owned by Hune, Inc., officers said.

Lt. McDaniel thanked the unidentified citizen who spotted the burglary and notified the cab dispatcher.

"The intelligent co-operation of these two men made it possible for police to interrupt a breaking and entering and apprehend the suspect," the lieutenant said.

In the same court appearance this morning, Beatty was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge he stole property valued at $12 on July 10 from a Mrs. Albert Gower.

Meanwhile, another attempted entry of the Arcade Restaurant was reported to police at 8 this morning. Patrolman William A. Devon, who investigated, said the would-be intruder cut a hole in a screen and then attempted to pry open the door, but was unsuccessful.

Powers was shot down over the Soviet Union May 1, 1960. He was sentenced to 10 years by a special Soviet court. He was released in February 1962 in a swap for Soviet master spy Rudolph Abel.

After the incident President Eisenhower announced that U2 flights had been discontinued over Soviet territory. President Kennedy later affirmed the pledge.

Tass said the Soviet note raised this question:

"What is this—revival of the old piratic practice of the previous (Eisenhower) government, condemned by President Kennedy himself, or a provocative act of the bellicose U.S. quarters which would like to create a new international conflict, like the conflict of 1960, and to aggravate the situation to the maximum?

"The U.S. government must furnish a clear answer to this question."

Porch Struck In Auto Crash

A Wellsville motorist was cited for reckless operation after his car struck the porch of a Wellsville home Sunday night, one of four accidents investigated over the long holiday weekend by Wellsville police.

Edwin Lee Morris, 1033½ Commerce St., was cited after his car struck the front porch at the home of Phillip Litherland, 1134 Center St., Sunday at 8:05 p. m.

The porch was heavily damaged. The car jumped the curb, officers said.

Gary D. Stone, 525 W. Jefferson St., Salineville, reported to police that the left rear of his car was struck by a hit-skip driver Sunday at 12:30 a. m. at 14th and Commerce Sts.

A car driven by Ray Booth, 240 Center St., East Liverpool, struck a parked motorcycle owned by Robert Kincaid, 103 Railroad St., Chester, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 at 13th and Main Sts., officers said.

A car driven by William Bonwich of Struthers was struck in the rear by another driven by Harry Curtis, 517 College St., East Liverpool, Saturday at 1:10 p. m. Bonwich had halted for a traffic light at 15th and Main Sts., officers said.

er, the 20-man military police detachment normally stationed there had fighting equipment on hand.

West Berlin police erected barricades at Sandkrug Bridge in the British sector, one of two crossing points the Allies told the Russians to use in changing their guard at the war memorial. The other is the Brandenburg Gate. The Sandkrug barricades had gates wide enough to allow heavy trucks and buses to pass through.

A small detachment of American soldiers also was stationed at Glienicker Bridge at the southwestern tip of the U.S. sector. The bridge is used as a crossing by members of U.S., British and French military missions attached to the Soviet headquarters at Potsdam in East Germany.

Eyewitnesses reported seven jeeploads of U.S. soldiers were deployed at the Kleeblatt cloverleaf, where the autobahn superhighway leaves West Berlin on its way to West Germany.

U.S. spokesmen would not explain the new measures, but it seemed likely that the Allies were preparing to put into effect their order that the Soviets stop using Checkpoint Charlie during their daily afternoon changing of the guard.

The Western Allies first told the Russians to stop using Checkpoint Charlie Sunday. Western spokesmen said the order had a deadline but refused to say when or what would happen if the Russians refused to comply. The Americans said the purpose was to reduce the possibility of attacks by West Berliners on the Soviet vehicles.

Use of either alternate route would result in a loss of face for the Communists. The Brandenburg Gate, which is 200 yards from the memorial, is sealed with mortar, barbed wire and tank obstacles as part of the Communist wall dividing Berlin.

County Gets Custody Of 2 Glenmoor Girls

Two Glenmoor girls, 14 and 15, accused of entertaining boy friends in their bedroom while their parents were asleep or at work, have been returned to custody of the County Welfare Department on the order of Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon.

Formerly wards of the county, the two girls had been residing with the Glenmoor couple nine years, the court said. The couple asked that they be returned to the Welfare Department, as they were unable to control the pair.

A 19-year-old East Palestine youth, nabbed by the girls' father in mid-August while allegedly leaving their bedroom, was sentenced to six months in County Jail Aug. 15 by Judge Tobin on a charge of contributing to their delinquency.

Mother And 3 Children Hurt In Road Crash

A mother and three daughters were injured in a two-car crash Monday morning just north of Salem, one of four accidents investigated by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol since Sunday.

Officers said the crash occurred at 9:55 a. m. on Route 62 eight-tenths of a mile north of Salem.

A car driven by Mrs. Elma C. Arthur, 38, of Hanoverton, R. D. 1 struck another driven by Stephen B. Reiter, 18, of Salem R. D. 4.

Reiter had started to make a left turn into a private drive, when Mrs. Arthur, who was following him, started to pass.

She was cited for passing without the assured clear distance.

Mrs. Arthur suffered contusions of the left leg and right arm. Her injured daughters included Linda Arthur, 9, lacerations and abrasions of the face, head and chest; Joyce Arthur, 12, contusions of the legs, and Barbara Arthur, 14, contusions of the left shoulder and leg.

Reiter suffered contusions of the head, shoulders and leg. All were taken to Salem Central Clinic.

A car driven by Jean Baum, 33, of Columbiana R. D. 2 left Township Rd. 796 a mile and half northwest of Route 558 Monday at 6:30 p. m. and struck a fence and utility pole.

Five fence posts and the power pole were sheared off, officers said. She was cited for unsafe operation. Her car was heavily damaged.

Last night at 10:30, a car driven by Richard N. Hanna, 18, of Lisbon R. D. 4 crashed on Route 30 about eight-tenths of a mile west of Route 9 near the Stark County line.

Officers said Hanna was headed east when his car went off the right side of the road, sheared off a telephone pole and continued into a field. His station wagon was heavily damaged but he apparently escaped injury.

Hanna was cited for speeding in excess of road conditions.

A Wheeling man escaped injury in a one-car crash on Route 7 near the intersection with Route 30 north of East Liverpool at 5:25 a. m. today.

Officers said Roger Louis Moore, 21, apparently fell asleep at the wheel while heading south.

The car veered off the right side of the highway and struck a guardrail, ripping out three posts and 25 feet of the fencing.

tail the last proposal made by the company. Alfred Wagoner, an international union representative, was present.

The spokesman said William G. Brewer, president of the local, has termed the strike as a "work stoppage" and that a "grievance line" is being maintained instead of a picket line.

Pickets are stationed at two entrances to the factory and a sign reading "no contract, no work," is displayed.

The company president said today, "the plant is open for operation." He added that kilns being operated will be turned off as soon as the green bricks inside are finished.

The strike has also idled a number of workmen building a new clay storage facility on State Route 66. The workers are employes of Ruttman Construction Co., Potters Lumber Co., and Sayre Electric Co.

The spokesman who said the union has rejected the company's last offer added the proposal did not remove the company's order calling for the elimination of certain jobs.

The union and Globe were "not far apart" in the final bargaining session," it was reported Sunday. Wage increases are not being sought, but the contract talks have centered on fringe benefits, the union said.

The local pointed out it will not prevent any employes from attempting to report for work, although there is no contract.

Hoover Smokes Pipe, Continues To Recover

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover smoked his favorite pipe today for the first time since undergoing surgery last week, a hospital spokesman said.

The report from Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center said Hoover was taking regular nourishment, although remaining on a soft diet, and all his vital signs are normal.

Hoover walked around unassisted in the Harkness Pavilion of the hospital, the report said, and began reading newspapers and messages for the first time since being operated on for an intestinal growth.

His doctors are pleased with the progress of his recovery, the report said.

midnight Aug. 20, showed 256 killed in traffic, 43 in boating accidents, 54 drownings and 85 miscellaneous fatalities for a total of 438.

Ohio Toll Of 18 Seen Lower Than Expected

Avoidance of the big ones—multiple fatality mishaps—served to keep Ohio's Labor Day weekend accidental death toll from going as high as predicted.

The 18 lives reported lost in traffic was comparable to last year's total for the early September holiday considered as running 78 hours, from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. The 1961 figure was 19.

But the toll for the past weekend fell short of state officials' preholiday estimate that 23 would be killed.

In all types of accidents, at least 21 perished, however. A drowning, a farm machinery fatality and an asphyxiation in an automobile fire were nontraffic causes of death.

The fatalities:

Monday

Homer Andre, 62, Clarksburg, W. Va., driver of the car in which Goudin was killed Sunday in Washington County, died of injuries in a Marietta hospital.

Harlow French, 48, Darien Center, N.Y., of injuries suffered in the crash of his truck and an automobile Sunday night on the Ohio Turnpike near Fremont.

John Kashmar, 48, Youngstown asphyxiated in his parked car beside Ohio 18 near Youngstown after apparently falling asleep while smoking.

Pamela Stewart, 17, North Olmsted, when the car she was driving rolled over on Brookpark Road in North Olmsted.

Charles Johnston, 71, Wellsville, when the motorcycle he was riding left U.S. 21 and hit an embankment near Newcomerstown.

Sunday

Joseph Goudin, 58, Clarksburg, W. Va., when a car in which he was a passenger struck a bridge near Lowell on Ohio 60 in Washinton County.

George Bowser, 30, Girard, in a one-car crash near Girard.

Harry Kabetso, 20, Canfield, in a two-car collision near Boardman in Mahoning County.

Pear Schillers, 38, Rt. 1, Berlin Heights, struck by a car on U.S. 6 near Huron.

Norma Ellen Danesi, 32, Akron, in a single-car crash in Akron.

William Horne, 10, crushed to death at his farm home near Huntsville after becoming caught in an auger-type feed conveyor.

Mrs. Lucille Bolden, 34, Cincinnati, when her car skidded into a utility pole in Cincinnati.

Saturday

Anthony Portale, 31, Lakewood, in a single car accident in Garfield Heights.

Christen Bothe, 22, Cincinnati, in a single-car crash in Hamilton.

Harry Elsworth Morton, 18, Columbus, in a head-on collision on Ohio 124 near the Vinton-Meigs county line.

Robert Beatty, 17, of Piqua, in a head-on collision on U.S. 25A one mile north of Troy.

Ronald E. Crider, 24, Bellefontaine, in a one-car crash on U.S. 33 southeast of Bellefontaine.

Alta Cooper, 24, Bucyrus, in a two - car accident on Ohio 98 north of Bucyrus.

Friday Night

Paul Orlosky, 7, Cleveland, struck by a car on a Cleveland street.

Walter K. Husar, 37, Lorain, in an auto-truck crash on U.S. 20 south of Elyria.

Robert Bray, 56, Gallipolis, drowned in the Ohio River after falling from a dock at Gallipolis.

Hospital Disturbance Brings Man's Arrest

Taken into custody on an intoxication charge after an alleged disturbance at the City Hospital emergency room Sunday night at 8, Harry T. Grimm, formerly of 942 Dresden Ave., told Patrolmen Jerry Adkins and L. E. Richard he had been "beaten up by three men," police reported.

Police said they checked with Grimm's landlady, Mrs. Kathleen Hill, who said he was hurt when he fell on some steps. Mrs. Hill said Grimm was evicted from his apartment at 942 Dresden Ave. Saturday for non - payment of rent and that he returned Sunday and kicked down two doors, officers said.

Grimm was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge.

GOP Candidate Urges Action Against Castro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Emerson Rupert, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate from Florida, has called on President Kennedy to enforce the Monroe Doctrine and take action against the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba.

"We in Florida are alarmed at the buildup of Communist ships and Czechoslovakian MIG war planes within striking distance of Miami and Tampa," Rupert said in a telegram to the President Monday night.

Congeniality. She was presented a trophy. She was one of 10 finalists.

The finalists were Miss Broderick, Miss Creaturo, Miss Janet Birch, Miss Patty Comparetta, Miss Melody Jackson, Miss Linda LaScola, Miss Jeris Murray, Miss Kathleen Trainer, Miss Wolski and Miss Young.

Judges were David Humphrey of MacDonald, past district Jaycee vice president; John Bennicasa of Alliance, regional vice president, and Bill Abrams, president of Alliance Jaycees.

The judges and their families spent all day in Wellsville.

There were 60 units in the paade, including the 26 queen contestants riding in convertibles. The units disbanded at the Beacom Memorial gym where the dance followed.

Nunzio Lombardozzi, president, Frank Fusco, Dan MacLean and Dick Blaner were parade marshals. The Wellsville High School Band led the units. Salineville High School Band also participated. City, county and Jaycee officials rode in convertibles.

Scotty Young's Headliners provided music for the dance. Jerry Russell, Jaycee Day chairman, termed the event a huge success and expressed the Jaycee's appreciation to city officials, the Board of Education and others who aided in the venture.

The event started Sunday morning with church services at the First Methodist Church and the Immaculate Conception Church. A free band concert was held Sunday night on Riverside Ave.

Yesterday's program opened with the dedication of a new pavilion built by the Jaycees at Hammond Park. The band played the National Anthem and the flag was raised over the park for the first time in many years.

The Rev. James Sanko gave the invocation. Russell served as master of ceremonies. Dick Kevan, chairman of the construction of the pavilion and a member of the Hammond Park Commission, gave a history of the past two years while the pavilion was being built. He also introduced members of the commission.

Lombardozzi made the presentation and it was accepted by Charles Stewart. About 100 attended.

The picnic attendance was good. A baby contest was held.

Winners were Tami Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, 1519 Clark Ave., first, and Jody Winland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Winland, 408 4th St., runnerup, for girls 1 to 3; Steve Saracco, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Saracco of Clover St., first and Jack Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of MacDonald St., runnerup, boys 1 to 3.

Valerie Corsello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russ Corsello of Henry Ave., first, and Nancy Henthorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Henthorne of Clark Ave., runnerup, girls 3 to 5, and Mark Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dickinson of Broadway, first, and Rick Standley, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Standley, 1614 Maple Dr., runnerup, boys 3 to 5.

They were presented trophies and the winners also received a $5 savings account at the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association. There were 54 entries.

Games followed in the afternoon. Winners included Jane Kevan and Ann Choma and Chris Shiveley and Ralph Raub, three-legged race; Leo White and Bruce Harris and Gerry Williamson and Ron Bailey, wheelbarrow race; Rose Comparetta and John Defilippo and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Shiveley, egg throw for adults, and Stuart David and Kay Thompson, two-legged race.

A Jaycee social for members and their families was held at the new pavilion at the conclusion of the afternoon's activities.

venes next Tuesday morning in New Cumberland.

Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr may seek indictments against Davidson on at least four felony charges of auto theft, or perhaps turn him over to Ohio authorities to be returned to the Mansfield Reformatory as a parole violator, the sheriff's office said.

The suspect, before his parole, had been serving a term of 5-30 years for breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling.

Davidson was arrested Saturday at 4:20 a. m. in Newell after wrecking a car stolen from Robert L. Boso, 1309½ Erie St. He was pursued on foot after fleeing from the crash and nabbed by Deputy Paul Cowey and Grant District Constable J. Carl Durham.

Davidson has been interrogated by East Liverpool police in connection with a wave of car thefts here, sheriff's deputies in a probe of breaking and enterings in the county, and the FBI.

Deputies said Davidson has admitted stealing a car in East Liverpool recently, driving to Waterford Park and stealing other license plates, and continuing on to Wellsburg and wrecking the stolen car. In Wellsburg, Davidson said he escaped authorities who pursued him on foot after the wreck and stole another car to return to East Liverpool.

Deputies said the FBI is considering a number of charges of interstate transportation of stolen cars and may ask a federal district attorney to begin prosecution.

Davidson had been living with friends in East Liverpool since losing his job at Waterford Park, deputies reported.

Postmaster O.K.'d

NEW WATERFORD — The U.S. Senate has confirmed the appointment of Arch L. Brinker as New Waterford postmaster. Brinker, who resides on Metz Rd. north of East Palestine, had been serving as active postmaster for 18 months. His nomination was by President Kennedy. He succeeds Earl Welsh.

Meany Sees Business Dip

By The Associated Press

AFL-CIO President George Meany threw a note of warning into the nation's celebration of Labor Day, predicting a recession this winter.

"I hope to heavens I am wrong," added Meany.

But the labor leader, in Seattle, Wash., for a speech at the World Fair, told reporters: "We are not growing fast enough economically to keep pace with our growing population, and sooner or later we will be in serious trouble."

Retiring Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who Friday was appointed to the Supreme Court, called labor-management relations more important than ever "in this period of stress and strain for America."

Goldberg attended the annual Labor Day Mass at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart in Washington. Afterward he spoke at a wreath-laying ceremony at the statue of James Cardinal Gibbons, a champion of labor.

"All of us must serve our country, and serve the national welfare and common defense to the best of our abilities," said Goldberg.

More than 1,000 government officials, labor and management executives and others at the Mass heard the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Roman Catholic archbishop of Washington, urge organized labor to "lean over backwards to cooperate with management in every reasonable effort to stabilize costs."

President Kennedy hailed the end-of-summer holiday with a statement that about 70 million Americans are now employed, more than ever before.

The worker in the United States, he said, enjoys "economic and social protections and rights undreamed of in earlier times and flatly denied in contemporary Communist societies."

"We are a blessed land," the President said.

A rallying cry was sounded by James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Speaking in Pennsauken, N.J., at the grave of Peter J. McGuire — the founder of Labor Day — Carey urged organized labor to battle for a 35-hour week and called for a guaranteed annual wage.

Meany sounded the same cry in Seattle, saying: "We are going to fight for the 35-hour week, not because American workers are lazy but because it would create 5 million more jobs."

He declared the weapon most feared by Communists is "America's industrial might." But he said the weapon is being weakened by recurring recessions and persistent unemployment.

In Detroit, George Romney showed up as an uninvited guest at a Michigan AFL-CIO celebration and drew a sharp rebuke from a union spokesman.

Romney, Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, had failed to obtain an invitation to appear on the speaker's platform with his November opponent, Gov. John B. Swainson, Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., and Detroit's Democratic Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. Also on the stand was United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

Automaker Romney, however, showed up and marched along the parade route ahead of the Democratic leaders and union officials.

Without mentioning Romney by name, Wayne County AFL-CIO President Al Barbour told the crowd: "Labor Day is a day when we invite our friends to share in the glory and celebration. And we have certain yardsticks by which we determine who our friends are.

"We know the working people of this state will give their answer at the Nov. 6 election to those who intrude themselves on our affairs and our programs."

Romney later told newsmen, "I understood it was a public rally and that all the citizens were invited. I was well treated."

Hearing Planned In Check Charge

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a continuance until Monday morning in the case of Hugo Leone, 1035 Commerce St., Wellsville, accused of issuing a $228.99 check on July 5 when he knew he did not have sufficient funds on hand at a bank to honor it.

The charge against Leone was filed by Robert L. Smith, a representative of the Three Rivers Aluminum Co. It alleged that the check was issued "with intent to defraud." The check was drawn on the Potters Bank & Trust Co., the affidavit said.

The continuance was granted after Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark advised the court Leone made restitution to Smith before the case was called. He asked the continuance for an investigation.

The judge complied and continued the $1,000 bond which Leone posted Saturday after he was served with Smith's warrant.

But aren't all nylon carpets alike?

No indeed!
That's why we carry
LEES LASTING STAR
the first and the best carpet made with DuPont 501 nylon

Lasting Star not only wears better, it looks better than run-of-the-mill nylon carpets for two very good reasons.

First, 501 nylon is the first ever engineered especially for carpet use, in one long, strong, continuous filament that never can fuzz up into little dirt traps or broken, matted ends.

Second, Lees gives this modern man-made fiber the same respectful care that's gone into every yard of carpet they ever made. Same number of painstaking inspections at every step of the way.

Every one of . . . those heavenly carpets by Lees is registered by number for your protection.

That's why Lasting Star is not like other nylon carpets. Durable! Won't shed! Won't mat! Resists stains and scuffs! And so easy to care for, you can go wild on color—the lightest, the brightest, even white! Naturally Lasting Star is mothproof, mildew-proof and non-allergenic. Truly a remarkable carpet.

Mother And 3 Children Hurt In Road Crash

A mother and three daughters were injured in a two-car crash Monday morning just north of Salem, one of four accidents investigated by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol since Sunday.

Officers said the crash occurred at 9:55 a. m. on Route 62 eight-tenths of a mile north of Salem.

A car driven by Mrs. Elma C. Arthur, 38, of Hanoverton, R. D. 1 struck another driven by Stephen B. Reiter, 18, of Salem R. D. 4.

Reiter had started to make a left turn into a private drive, when Mrs. Arthur, who was following him, started to pass.

She was cited for passing without the assured clear distance.

Mrs. Arthur suffered contusions of the left leg and right arm. Her injured daughters included Linda Arthur, 9, lacerations and abrasions of the face, head and chest; Joyce Arthur, 12, contusions of the legs, and Barbara Arthur, 14, contusions of the left shoulder and leg.

Reiter suffered contusions of the head, shoulders and leg. All were taken to Salem Central Clinic.

A car driven by Jean Baum, 33, of Columbiana R. D. 2 left Township Rd. 796 a mile and half northwest of Route 558 Monday at 6:30 p. m. and struck a fence and utility pole.

Five fence posts and the power pole were sheared off, officers said. She was cited for unsafe operation. Her car was heavily damaged.

Last night at 10:30, a car driven by Richard N. Hanna, 18, of Lisbon R. D. 4 crashed on Route 30 about eight-tenths of a mile west of Route 9 near the Stark County line.

Officers said Hanna was headed east when his car went off the right side of the road, sheared off a telephone pole and continued into a field. His station wagon was heavily damaged but he apparently escaped injury.

Hanna was cited for speeding in excess of road conditions.

A Wheeling man escaped injury in a one-car crash on Route 7 near the intersection with Route 30 north of East Liverpool at 5:25 a. m. today.

Officers said Roger Louis Moore, 21, apparently fell asleep at the wheel while heading south.

The car veered off the right side of the highway and struck a guardrail, ripping out three posts and 25 feet of the fencing.

The suspect, before his parole, had been serving a term of 5-30 years for breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling.

Davidson was arrested Saturday at 4:20 a. m. in Newell after wrecking a car stolen from Robert L. Boso, 1309½ Erie St. He was pursued on foot after fleeing from the crash and nabbed by Deputy Paul Cowey and Grant District Constable J. Carl Durham.

Davidson has been interrogated by East Liverpool police in connection with a wave of car thefts here, sheriff's deputies in a probe of breaking and enterings in the county, and the FBI.

Deputies said Davidson has admitted stealing a car in East Liverpool recently, driving to Waterford Park and stealing other license plates, and continuing on to Wellsburg and wrecking the stolen car. In Wellsburg, Davidson said he escaped authorities who pursued him on foot after the wreck and stole another car to return to East Liverpool.

Deputies said the FBI is considering a number of charges of interstate transportation of stolen cars and may ask a federal district attorney to begin prosecution.

Davidson had been living with friends in East Liverpool since losing his job at Waterford Park, deputies reported.

Postmaster O.K.'d

NEW WATERFORD — The U.S. Senate has confirmed the appointment of Arch L. Brinker as New Waterford postmaster. Brinker, who resides on Metz Rd. north of East Palestine, had been serving as active postmaster for 18 months. His nomination was by President Kennedy. He succeeds Earl Welsh.

Elmo Lincoln, in 1918, was the first movie actor to play the role of "Tarzan."

Meany Sees Business Dip

By The Associated Press

AFL-CIO President George Meany threw a note of warning into the nation's celebration of Labor Day, predicting a recession this winter.

"I hope to heavens I am wrong," added Meany.

But the labor leader, in Seattle, Wash., for a speech at the World Fair, told reporters: "We are not growing fast enough economically to keep pace with our growing population, and sooner or later we will be in serious trouble."

Retiring Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who Friday was appointed to the Supreme Court, called labor-management relations more important than ever "in this period of stress and strain for America."

Goldberg attended the annual Labor Day Mass at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart in Washington. Afterward he spoke at a wreath-laying ceremony at the statue of James Cardinal Gibbons, a champion of labor.

"All of us must serve our country, and serve the national welfare and common defense to the best of our abilities," said Goldberg.

More than 1,000 government officials, labor and management executives and others at the Mass heard the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Roman Catholic archbishop of Washington, urge organized labor to "lean over backwards to cooperate with management in every reasonable effort to stabilize costs."

President Kennedy hailed the end-of-summer holiday with a statement that about 70 million Americans are now employed, more than ever before.

The worker in the United States, he said, enjoys "economic and social protections and rights undreamed of in earlier times and flatly denied in contemporary Communist societies."

"We are a blessed land," the President said.

A rallying cry was sounded by James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Speaking in Pennsauken, N.J., at the grave of Peter J. McGuire — the founder of Labor Day — Carey urged organized labor to battle for a 35-hour week and called for a guaranteed annual wage.

Meany sounded the same cry in Seattle, saying: "We are going to fight for the 35-hour week, not because American workers are lazy but because it would create 5 million more jobs."

He declared the weapon most feared by Communists is "America's industrial might." But he said the weapon is being weakened by recurring recessions and persistent unemployment.

In Detroit, George Romney showed up as an uninvited guest at a Michigan AFL-CIO celebration and drew a sharp rebuke from a union spokesman.

Romney, Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, had failed to obtain an invitation to appear on the speaker's platform with his November opponent, Gov. John B. Swainson, Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., and Detroit's Democratic Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. Also on the stand was United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

Automaker Romney, however, showed up and marched along the parade route ahead of the Democratic leaders and union officials.

Without mentioning Romney by name, Wayne County AFL-CIO President Al Barbour told the crowd: "Labor Day is a day when we invite our friends to share in the glory and celebration. And we have certain yardsticks by which we determine who our friends are.

"We know the working people of this state will give their answer at the Nov. 6 election to those who intrude themselves on our affairs and our programs."

Romney later told newsmen, "I understood it was a public rally and that all the citizens were invited. I was well treated."

Hearing Planned In Check Charge

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a continuance until Monday morning in the case of Hugo Leone, 1035 Commerce St., Wellsville, accused of issuing a $228.99 check on July 5 when he knew he did not have sufficient funds on hand at a bank to honor it.

The charge against Leone was filed by Robert L. Smith, a representative of the Three Rivers Aluminum Co. It alleged that the check was issued "with intent to defraud." The check was drawn on the Potters Bank & Trust Co., the affidavit said.

The continuance was granted after Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark advised the court Leone made restitution to Smith before the case was called. He asked the continuance for an investigation.

The judge complied and continued the $1,000 bond which Leone posted Saturday after he was served with Smith's warrant.

Optimism Felt In Bid To Solve Congo Issue

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Diplomats displayed guarded optimism today toward Katanga President Moise Tshombe's acceptance in principle of a U.N. plan to bring his secessionist province back into the Congo.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's proposals called for Katanga to rejoin the Congo under a new federal constitution to be drafted within 30 days; to share Katanga's rich mining revenues 50-50 with the central government pending a permanent settlement, and to merge the Katanga army with the Congolese army within 30 days.

But aren't all nylon carpets alike?
No indeed!
That's why we carry
LEES LASTING STAR
the first and the best carpet made with DuPont 501 nylon
Lasting Star not only wears better, it looks better than run-of-the-mill nylon carpets for two very good reasons.
First, 501 nylon is the first ever engineered especially for carpet use, in one long, strong, continuous filament that never can fuzz up into little dirt traps or broken, matted ends.
Second, Lees gives this modern man-made fiber the same respectful care that's gone into every yard of carpet they ever made. Same number of painstaking inspections at every step of the way.
Every one of . . . those heavenly carpets by Lees is registered by number for your protection.
That's why Lasting Star is not like other nylon carpets. Durable! Won't shed! Won't mat! Resists stains and scuffs! And so easy to care for, you can go wild on color—the lightest, the brightest, even white! Naturally Lasting Star is mothproof, mildew-proof and non-allergenic. Truly a remarkable carpet.

Actress Loren Hopes Bigamy Charge Ended

ROME (AP) —Actress Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti said they had high hopes that annulment of their Mexican proxy marriage would result in the quashing of Italian bigamy charges against them.

Judge Carlos Uranga Munoz announced the annulment Monday at Juarez, Mexico, where Ponti and Miss Loren were married in 1957.

Ponti, 46, married the 27-year-old actress after he got a Mexican divorce from Giuliana Fiastra, an Italian attorney who has two sons by him. Divorce is not recognized in Roman Catholic Italy, and several citizens filed bigamy complaints against Miss Loren and Ponti.

Mother Plans Healthy Life For Children

The hour was noon. The place, the check-out counter at the supermarket. An attractive young woman was waiting for her groceries to be checked through. She had two fine looking youngsters about 4 and 5.

Ida Jean Kain

These children were perhaps the only ones in the store at that hour who were not eating candy, or cookies, or having a soft drink, or chewing gum.

Struck by this singular fact, I COMMENTED, "You have b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l children," spelling out the adjective. Their mother beamed. She then went on to explain that it was 11 years in their marriage before the children came along, and she felt so grateful she wanted to give them the very best start in life, and the very best food habits.

"I PLAN THEIR meals," she explained, when she saw I was really interested. "Each day they have a yellow vegetable and a green vegetable, fruit juice, fresh fruit, a whole grain cereal and their full quota of milk, as well as lean meat or fish, chicken and eggs." In other words, she plans meals on the basic protective food groups.

How does she keep her children from eating between meals? They have a rule in their house, that whenever food is eaten, teeth must be brushed! "Sometimes it seems easier not to be always eating than always brushing," she laughed.

When the ice cream man comes along just before the supper hour and the neighborhood kids run out for a treat, the children may look a little wistful. So then they get to choose the kind of dessert they can have for dinner.

"If I allowed them to eat ice cream at 5:45, I know they would not be hungry at 6:30 which is our dinner time."

I was overwhelmed by such a common sense attitude. How different from the young mothers who, when the kids balk at going into kindergarten, stick a chocolate bar in their hands and shove them in the door. The teachers tell me this is an everyday occurrence.

Many mothers inadvertently encourage their children to form wrong food habits. How? They use food as a bribe, or a reward, or withhold food as punishment.

SOME MOTHERS try to prove they love their children by giving them too much rich food to eat. The most sensible attitude toward food is a simple enjoyment of good nourishing meals and a developed sense of how much is enough.

As I said good-bye to the trio, I thought to myself . . . what a wonderful mother, and how fortunate her children.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I freshen rancid butter?

A. This can often be done by breaking the butter up and putting it into some fresh milk. Allow it to absorb the milk, drain thoroughly, then wash in cold salted water and work it again into the desired form.

Q. How can I improvise a good movie screen for some home movies?

A. A card table will make a very fine screen. Open up just two legs of the table, and use these to hold the table on edge on top of another table. Then, if the card table is dark-colored, you can cover it with some white paper or sheeting.

Q. How can I do a good job of cleaning the ceramic tile in my bathroom?

A. Mix up two parts of liquid detergent with three parts of household vinegar. Take an old toothbrush and, dipping this into your mixture, scrub the tile, especially the putty strips which join the blocks.

Q. How can I quickly remove the marks left on the skin by adhesive tape?

A. Fingernail polish remover is excellent for this.

Q. How can I renovate a shabby-looking black umbrella?

A. Try brushing it with a solution of ammonia and warm water.

No Vacation Planned By President In Fall

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)— President Kennedy enjoyed the Labor Day weekend during which he had a family reunion and got in some sailing and swimming at Newport and at Hyannis Port, Mass. He returned to Washington today.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced Monday night the President expects to pass up a vacation this fall, because Congress still is in session and the 1962 election campaign is getting into full swing.

Salinger said the President will take off a few long weekends, one of which may stretch from Friday, Sept. 14, through the following Tuesday.

That Tuesday is primary day in Massachusetts. The President's younger brother, Edward M. Kennedy, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat. The President will make a side trip to Boston to vote.

Actress Loren Hopes Bigamy Charge Ended

ROME (AP) —Actress Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti said they had high hopes that annulment of their Mexican proxy marriage would result in the quashing of Italian bigamy charges against them.

Judge Carlos Uranga Munoz announced the annulment Monday at Juarez, Mexico, where Ponti and Miss Loren were married in 1957.

Ponti, 46, married the 27-year-old actress after he got a Mexican divorce from Giuliana Fiastra, an Italian attorney who has two sons by him. Divorce is not recognized in Roman Catholic Italy, and several citizens filed bigamy complaints against Miss Loren and Ponti.

Mother Plans Healthy Life For Children

The hour was noon. The place, the check-out counter at the supermarket. An attractive young woman was waiting for her groceries to be checked through. She had two fine looking youngsters about 4 and 5.

Ida Jean Kain

These children were perhaps the only ones in the store at that hour who were not eating candy, or cookies, or having a soft drink, or chewing gum.

Struck by this singular fact, I COMMENTED, "You have b-e-a-u-t-i-f-u-l children," spelling out the adjective. Their mother beamed. She then went on to explain that it was 11 years in their marriage before the children came along, and she felt so grateful she wanted to give them the very best start in life, and the very best food habits.

"I PLAN THEIR meals," she explained, when she saw I was really interested. "Each day they have a yellow vegetable and a green vegetable, fruit juice, fresh fruit, a whole grain cereal and their full quota of milk, as well as lean meat or fish, chicken and eggs." In other words, she plans meals on the basic protective food groups.

How does she keep her children from eating between meals? They have a rule in their house, that whenever food is eaten, teeth must be brushed! "Sometimes it seems easier not to be always eating than always brushing," she laughed.

When the ice cream man comes along just before the supper hour and the neighborhood kids run out for a treat, the children may look a little wistful. So then they get to choose the kind of dessert they can have for dinner.

"If I allowed them to eat ice cream at 5:45, I know they would not be hungry at 6:30 which is our dinner time."

I was overwhelmed by such a common sense attitude. How different from the young mothers who, when the kids balk at going into kindergarten, stick a chocolate bar in their hands and shove them in the door. The teachers tell me this is an everyday occurrence.

Many mothers inadvertently encourage their children to form wrong food habits. How? They use food as a bribe, or a reward, or withhold food as punishment.

SOME MOTHERS try to prove they love their children by giving them too much rich food to eat. The most sensible attitude toward food is a simple enjoyment of good nourishing meals and a developed sense of how much is enough.

As I said good-bye to the trio, I thought to myself . . . what a wonderful mother, and how fortunate her children.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I freshen rancid butter?

A. This can often be done by breaking the butter up and putting it into some fresh milk. Allow it to absorb the milk, drain thoroughly, then wash in cold salted water and work it again into the desired form.

Q. How can I improvise a good movie screen for some home movies?

A. A card table will make a very fine screen. Open up just two legs of the table, and use these to hold the table on edge on top of another table. Then, if the card table is dark-colored, you can cover it with some white paper or sheeting.

Q. How can I do a good job of cleaning the ceramic tile in my bathroom?

A. Mix up two parts of liquid detergent with three parts of household vinegar. Take an old toothbrush and, dipping this into your mixture, scrub the tile, especially the putty strips which join the blocks.

Q. How can I quickly remove the marks left on the skin by adhesive tape?

A. Fingernail polish remover is excellent for this.

Q. How can I renovate a shabby-looking black umbrella?

A. Try brushing it with a solution of ammonia and warm water.

No Vacation Planned By President In Fall

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)— President Kennedy enjoyed the Labor Day weekend during which he had a family reunion and got in some sailing and swimming at Newport and at Hyannis Port, Mass. He returned to Washington today.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced Monday night the President expects to pass up a vacation this fall, because Congress still is in session and the 1962 election campaign is getting into full swing.

Salinger said the President will take off a few long weekends, one of which may stretch from Friday, Sept. 14, through the following Tuesday.

That Tuesday is primary day in Massachusetts. The President's younger brother, Edward M. Kennedy, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat. The President will make a side trip to Boston to vote.

Negroes Eye School Move In Georgia

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Negro pupils planned to seek enrollment at three white schools today on the heels of a big Ku Klux Klan rally aimed at organizing mass resistance to integration efforts in Albany.

At a Klan rally Monday night, Georgia Dragon Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta said he had been told the Negroes would be kept out of the schools.

"But there is only one way to keep them out and that is through your determination," Craig told several thousand white persons, mostly men, who gathered in a pasture near Albany. Pistols protruded from the pockets of several men but there were no incidents at the meeting held on private property.

Robed and hooded Klansmen ignited a 20-foot cross to start the meeting as a Klan chaplain prayed for divine guidance.

Craig, wearing a dragon-emblazoned robe and hood, urged listeners to boycott businesses employing Negroes and to vote for segregationist candidates in the Sept. 12 Democratic primary in Georgia.

Earlier, 17 churchmen from Chicago, New York and Connecticut were freed under $200 bonds after six days in jail as a protest against segregation.

A spokesman, the Rev. William D. Watkins of Chicago, said the clergymen—most of whom fasted for varying periods—"came here to witness to the fact that the problem of Albany is a national and not a local problem."

The group was among 75 persons jailed a week ago for a prayer vigil in front of city hall. Still in jail was one of the original group — Annie Pearl Avery, a Birmingham Negro.

session today, with full classes starting tomorrow.

At Wellsville, public schools will begin Wednesday. The Immaculate Conception Parochial School also resumes classes tomorrow.

The workshop for the Columbiana County teachers and administrators began this morning at Beaver Local High School, sponsored by the Columbiana County Education Association.

The four county districts — Beaver Local, United Local, Southern Local and Fairfield-Waterford — will hold individual teachers' meetings Wednesday in preparation for the resumption of classes Thursday.

A special assembly Thursday morning will mark the start of activies at Beaver Local High School's fall term with some 600 students expected, Lee Kirkland, principal, said. There were 550 pupils last year.

George VanHorne, executive head, and Kirkland, along with leaders of the Hi-Y and Y-Teens will address the student assembly at 8:30. Regular class and cafeteria schedules will be followed the first day.

Hancock County's schools resumed classes this morning with full-day sessions, and Midland public schools also started classes today, as did the Presentation Parochial School.

In the Stanton district, classes were to begin this afternoon at the Edison Elementary School but the three other buildings will not open until Sept. 10 because construction work is not completed. These buildings are the new high school at Hammondsville and the Irondale and Hammondsville elementary schools.

Southern Beaver County Joint Schools near Hookstown will open Wednesday.

The Western Beaver School District at Ohioville and Industry will be the last to open—Sept. 17—because of construction of the new junior-high school at Industry.

Teachers of the Beaver County schools held their first institute this morning at the Rochester Junior-Senior High School. Another will be held in October.

All-Day Session Due For Southern Local

SALINEVILLE — Southern Local Schools will open Thursday morning for an all-day session, according to Jack Baker, executive head.

Some modifications made in the schedules at No. 16 and Wayne Schools were announced previously, he said. Those at the Highland-town, Salineville and Franklin schedules will be about the same.

The cafeterias will be open the first day with the price of meals the same as last year. The cost is 30 cents for students and 35 cents for adults.

Some 1,280 students are expected, an increase over last year.

Baker said some 115 more students are expected this year at Salineville High School. He said all freshman will attend at Salineville this year for the first time. Previously some had gone to Lisbon and Wellsville High Schools.

6 Children Burn To Death As Fire Hits Detroit Flat

DETROIT (AP) — Six children died today in a fire that swept a flat in an East Side apartment building. Three others, members of the same family were hospitalized with burns.

The fire broke out about 6 a.m. at the rear of the apartment. firemen said the flames shot so high in the air they were visible for a mile. The apartment house is occupied by Negro families.

Twenty-three children of three other familes in the four-family building escaped, firemen said.

Firemen identified the dead as Marvin, 10; Raymond, 7, and Anthony, 4, children of Mrs. Harriet Ray, and three of Mrs. Ray's grandchildren, Derrick, 2; Arnell, four months, and Cynthia, 11 months.

Derrick and Arnell were children of Mrs. Fay Ray, 23, daughter of Mrs. Harriet Ray. The daughter lives at another address. Cynthia was the child of Mrs. Wrozelle Ray, 17, another daughter of Mrs. Harriet Ray. Mrs. Wrozelle Ray lives in Cleveland.

autos halted for the traffic light. It also crashed the traffic light at W. 9th and Dresden.

On the straightaway just past the W. 9th St. light, the officer halted the auto and placed the driver under arrest for various traffic violations. Then he started to the station with the suspect in the auto.

Inbound on Dresden, the car halted for the traffic signal at W. 9th St. The suspect leaped out of the car and headed out Dresden Ave. again on foot.

Officer Carter jumped out and pursued him, but was delayed for a moment because his raincoat caught on the car's seat. The suspect had about a block start as a result. The officer commandeered another passing car to aid the pursuit.

The suspect turned off the roadway and started up a steep embankment on the east side of Dresden. Near the top of the grade, the patrolman nabbed the man and the two rolled down the hillside, struggling. Officer Carter subdued the man and handcuffed him.

Then he walked him back to the abandoned car, still standing in the traffic lane at W. 9th with both doors open.

Bankerd at first told police he had borrowed the car from a friend in New Philadelphia. Police noted a Central Service sticker on the back of the car. Inside the auto were the four radios, police said.

So Officer Carter went to the auto agency to investigate. He found the signs of the burglary. Jack Young, Central Service sales manager, was called. He identified the radios as the auto agency's property and said the car also belonged to Central Service, police said.

About two years ago, Bankerd was employed as a salesman at Central Service, police said. He gave police various addresses in East Liverpool, Pittsburgh and Maryland. He told officers he has been living most recently in Pittsburgh and working as a trucker's helper.

Bankerd said he got a ride on one of the company's trucks Saturday, intending to go to Alliance to visit his mother. But he said he visited various bars when he arrived here and never went further on the trip. He also has relatives in East Liverpool, police said.

Bankerd told police he was "too drunk to remember" the episode early Sunday.

Lt. W. E. McDaniel, in charge of the shift on which Bankerd was arrested, commended the two motorists whose cars aided in the capture of the suspect.

"The co-operation of these two motorists made the arrest possible in the first place and aided in the man's capture after he escaped," the lieutenant said.

Police records show Bankerd was arrested here Nov. 12, 1960, on a shoplifting charge and given a suspended 30-day term in County Jail. He has a record of other arrests in Alliance and in Texas, police said.

62 Die On Canadian Highways On Holiday

TORONTO (AP)—Traffic fatalities in Canada during the Labor Day weekend exceeded the prediction by the Canadian Highway Safety Council and equaled last year's toll.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday showed that at least 62 persons died violently on Canada's roads. The safety council had predicted 55.

Auto Injures East End Boy

A 14-year-old East End boy escaped with a laceration of the right forearm when struck by an auto Monday night at 9:04 on Pennsylvania Ave. at Sylvan St., police reported.

William Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Carter of Harker Ave., was treated at City Hospital after he darted into the path of a 1955 model sedan operated by Ida L. Sanford, 26, of 400 Walters Ave., police said.

The woman motorist told police she was traveling east about 5 to 10 miles an hour when the boy dashed in front of her car. She said she applied the brakes, but the boy was struck by the auto and knocked to the pavement.

The boy jumped up and ran away, the motorist said. But he stopped a short distance away, told the driver he was unhurt and refused to go to the hospital for examination, she said. Then he ran again, officers said.

The boy verified the driver's report of the mishap. He went to the hospital for treatment about 10 minutes later.

Motorists Penalized For Ignoring Signals

Two motorists were penalized today in Municipal Court on charges they ignored traffic signals.

Ernest J. Arnold of Cleveland was fined $5 and $7.50 costs by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he crashed a light on Dresden Ave. at 12:05 a. m. Sunday. James R. Bailey, 20, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of crashing the light at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves. at 12:10 a. m. Monday.

Miss Marilyn D. Eckert, 338 Thompson Ave., was given a suspended $10 fine on a charge of driving without wearing the eye glasses required on her restricted operator's permit. She was cited Sunday at 12:58 p. m. on Bradshaw Ave., police said.

Broadway. He instructed the watchman to notify the Yellow Creek tower of the derailment so that traffic could be halted. The assistant chief took the watchman's red flag, intending to halt westbound trains. A moment later, the crossing watchman told him the Yellow Creek tower had been alerted and all necessary precautions had been taken.

Two unidentified men were credited with halting a taxicab at the foot of St. Clair Ave. just before the runaway roared past. One of the men said he was seated at the end of the bar in the Senate Cafe — which adjoins the Horn Switch—and saw the boxcar approaching. He shouted a warning to the other patrons—in case the boxcar jumped the tracks and hit the building.

THEN HE and another man ran into the middle of St. Clair Ave., waving their arms, and halted a Veterans Cab Co. taxi approaching the crossing.

Anderson was too busy pursuing the boxcar to note the time of the incident. Patrolman Charles A. Winters, on the desk at police headquarters, heard the wailing siren and telephoned Central Station to find where the vehicle was headed. He noted the time at 5:06-5:07 p.m. The entire wild ride was over in about four minutes. Police said the car derailed at 5:11.

Late last night, the police department and railroad detectives still were attempting to determine what caused the boxcar to run away. Capt. Robert Pyle headed the investigation for the local department.

Why Pay to Heat 4 Houses

When you use only One? Heat with Gas for about ¼ the cost of Wired Resistance Heat. It's a fact . . . you can heat about 4 houses with Gas for what it costs to heat only one with Wired Resistance Heating! Not only is Gas heat more economical, it does a complete heating job. Fresh air is gently circulated and filtered clean in a forced air Gas System. Your entire home is kept comfortable by setting just one thermostat. And you can add central Gas cooling whenever you wish.

Contrast the automatic Gas system with wired resistance heat which offers no air circulation, no ventilation, no filtering of the air, and individual room thermostats that require separate adjusting. Which system is more modern? We think you will decide for Gas, when you get all the facts and compare both systems. Gas heating is used in practically all new homes today, where Gas is available.

Negroes Eye School Move In Georgia

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Negro pupils planned to seek enrollment at three white schools today on the heels of a big Ku Klux Klan rally aimed at organizing mass resistance to integration efforts in Albany.

At a Klan rally Monday night, Georgia Dragon Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta said he had been told the Negroes would be kept out of the schools.

"But there is only one way to keep them out and that is through your determination," Craig told several thousand white persons, mostly men, who gathered in a pasture near Albany. Pistols protruded from the pockets of several men but there were no incidents at the meeting held on private property.

Robed and hooded Klansmen ignited a 20-foot cross to start the meeting as a Klan chaplain prayed for divine guidance.

Craig, wearing a dragon-emblazoned robe and hood, urged listeners to boycott businesses employing Negroes and to vote for segregationist candidates in the Sept. 12 Democratic primary in Georgia.

Earlier, 17 churchmen from Chicago, New York and Connecticut were freed under $200 bonds after six days in jail as a protest against segregation.

A spokesman, the Rev. William D. Watkins of Chicago, said the clergymen—most of whom fasted for varying periods—"came here to witness to the fact that the problem of Albany is a national and not a local problem."

The group was among 75 persons jailed a week ago for a prayer vigil in front of city hall. Still in jail was one of the original group — Annie Pearl Avery, a Birmingham Negro.

SCHOOL BEGINS OFFICIALLY. The 1962-63 term for East Liverpool city schools started this morning when a general teachers' meeting was held at Westgate School. The general session for the 215-member staff was followed by meetings of principals and meetings of instructors at each building. Some of the teachers are pictured here at the general session.

session today, with full classes starting tomorrow.

At Wellsville, public schools will begin Wednesday. The Immaculate Conception Parochial School also resumes classes tomorrow.

The workshop for the Columbiana County teachers and administrators began this morning at Beaver Local High School, sponsored by the Columbiana County Education Association.

The four county districts — Beaver Local, United Local, Southern Local and Fairfield-Waterford — will hold individual teachers' meetings Wednesday in preparation for the resumption of classes Thursday.

A special assembly Thursday morning will mark the start of activies at Beaver Local High School's fall term with some 600 students expected, Lee Kirkland, principal, said. There were 550 pupils last year.

George VanHorne, executive head, and Kirkland, along with leaders of the Hi-Y and Y-Teens will address the student assembly at 8:30. Regular class and cafeteria schedules will be followed the first day.

Hancock County's schools resumed classes this morning with full-day sessions, and Midland public schools also started classes today, as did the Presentation Parochial School.

In the Stanton district, classes were to begin this afternoon at the Edison Elementary School but the three other buildings will not open until Sept. 10 because construction work is not completed. These buildings are the new high school at Hammondsville and the Irondale and Hammondsville elementary schools.

Southern Beaver County Joint Schools near Hookstown will open Wednesday.

The Western Beaver School District at Ohioville and Industry will be the last to open—Sept. 17—because of construction of the new junior-high school at Industry.

Teachers of the Beaver County schools held their first institute this morning at the Rochester Junior-Senior High School. Another will be held in October.

All-Day Session Due For Southern Local

SALINEVILLE — Southern Local Schools will open Thursday morning for an all-day session, according to Jack Baker, executive head.

Some modifications made in the schedules at No. 16 and Wayne Schools were announced previously, he said. Those at the Highland-town, Salineville and Franklin schedules will be about the same.

The cafeterias will be open the first day with the price of meals the same as last year. The cost is 30 cents for students and 35 cents for adults.

Some 1,280 students are expected, an increase over last year.

Baker said some 115 more students are expected this year at Salineville High School. He said all freshman will attend at Salineville this year for the first time. Previously some had gone to Lisbon and Wellsville High Schools.

6 Children Burn To Death As Fire Hits Detroit Flat

DETROIT (AP) — Six children died today in a fire that swept a flat in an East Side apartment building. Three others, members of the same family were hospitalized with burns.

The fire broke out about 6 a.m. at the rear of the apartment. firemen said the flames shot so high in the air they were visible for a mile. The apartment house is occupied by Negro families.

Twenty-three children of three other familes in the four-family building escaped, firemen said.

Firemen identified the dead as Marvin, 10; Raymond, 7, and Anthony, 4, children of Mrs. Harriet Ray, and three of Mrs. Ray's grandchildren, Derrick, 2; Arnell, four months, and Cynthia, 11 months.

Derrick and Arnell were children of Mrs. Fay Ray, 23, daughter of Mrs. Harriet Ray. The daughter lives at another address. Cynthia was the child of Mrs. Wrozelle Ray, 17, another daughter of Mrs. Harriet Ray. Mrs. Wrozelle Ray lives in Cleveland.

autos halted for the traffic light. It also crashed the traffic light at W. 9th and Dresden.

On the straightaway just past the W. 9th St. light, the officer halted the auto and placed the driver under arrest for various traffic violations. Then he started to the station with the suspect in the auto.

Inbound on Dresden, the car halted for the traffic signal at W. 9th St. The suspect leaped out of the car and headed out Dresden Ave. again on foot.

Officer Carter jumped out and pursued him, but was delayed for a moment because his raincoat caught on the car's seat. The suspect had about a block start as a result. The officer commandeered another passing car to aid the pursuit.

The suspect turned off the roadway and started up a steep embankment on the east side of Dresden. Near the top of the grade, the patrolman nabbed the man and the two rolled down the hillside, struggling. Officer Carter subdued the man and handcuffed him.

Then he walked him back to the abandoned car, still standing in the traffic lane at W. 9th with both doors open.

Bankerd at first told police he had borrowed the car from a friend in New Philadelphia. Police noted a Central Service sticker on the back of the car. Inside the auto were the four radios, police said.

So Officer Carter went to the auto agency to investigate. He found the signs of the burglary. Jack Young, Central Service sales manager, was called. He identified the radios as the auto agency's property and said the car also belonged to Central Service, police said.

About two years ago, Bankerd was employed as a salesman at Central Service, police said. He gave police various addresses in East Liverpool, Pittsburgh and Maryland. He told officers he has been living most recently in Pittsburgh and working as a trucker's helper.

Bankerd said he got a ride on one of the company's trucks Saturday, intending to go to Alliance to visit his mother. But he said he visited various bars when he arrived here and never went further on the trip. He also has relatives in East Liverpool, police said.

Bankerd told police he was "too drunk to remember" the episode early Sunday.

Lt. W. E. McDaniel, in charge of the shift on which Bankerd was arrested, commended the two motorists whose cars aided in the capture of the suspect.

"The co-operation of these two motorists made the arrest possible in the first place and aided in the man's capture after he escaped," the lieutenant said.

Police records show Bankerd was arrested here Nov. 12, 1960, on a shoplifting charge and given a suspended 30-day term in County Jail. He has a record of other arrests in Alliance and in Texas, police said.

62 Die On Canadian Highways On Holiday

TORONTO (AP)—Traffic fatalities in Canada during the Labor Day weekend exceeded the prediction by the Canadian Highway Safety Council and equaled last year's toll.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday showed that at least 62 persons died violently on Canada's roads. The safety council had predicted 55.

Auto Injures East End Boy

A 14-year-old East End boy escaped with a laceration of the right forearm when struck by an auto Monday night at 9:04 on Pennsylvania Ave. at Sylvan St., police reported.

William Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Carter of Harker Ave., was treated at City Hospital after he darted into the path of a 1955 model sedan operated by Ida L. Sanford, 26, of 400 Walters Ave., police said.

The woman motorist told police she was traveling east about 5 to 10 miles an hour when the boy dashed in front of her car. She said she applied the brakes, but the boy was struck by the auto and knocked to the pavement.

The boy jumped up and ran away, the motorist said. But he stopped a short distance away, told the driver he was unhurt and refused to go to the hospital for examination, she said. Then he ran again, officers said.

The boy verified the driver's report of the mishap. He went to the hospital for treatment about 10 minutes later.

Motorists Penalized For Ignoring Signals

Two motorists were penalized today in Municipal Court on charges they ignored traffic signals.

Ernest J. Arnold of Cleveland was fined $5 and $7.50 costs by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he crashed a light on Dresden Ave. at 12:05 a. m. Sunday. James R. Bailey, 20, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of crashing the light at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves. at 12:10 a. m. Monday.

Miss Marilyn D. Eckert, 338 Thompson Ave., was given a suspended $10 fine on a charge of driving without wearing the eye glasses required on her restricted operator's permit. She was cited Sunday at 12:58 p. m. on Bradshaw Ave., police said.

Broadway. He instructed the watchman to notify the Yellow Creek tower of the derailment so that traffic could be halted. The assistant chief took the watchman's red flag, intending to halt westbound trains. A moment later, the crossing watchman told him the Yellow Creek tower had been alerted and all necessary precautions had been taken.

Two unidentified men were credited with halting a taxicab at the foot of St. Clair Ave. just before the runaway roared past. One of the men said he was seated at the end of the bar in the Senate Cafe — which adjoins the Horn Switch—and saw the boxcar approaching. He shouted a warning to the other patrons—in case the boxcar jumped the tracks and hit the building.

THEN HE and another man ran into the middle of St. Clair Ave., waving their arms, and halted a Veterans Cab Co. taxi approaching the crossing.

Anderson was too busy pursuing the boxcar to note the time of the incident. Patrolman Charles A. Winters, on the desk at police headquarters, heard the wailing siren and telephoned Central Station to find where the vehicle was headed. He noted the time at 5:06-5:07 p.m. The entire wild ride was over in about four minutes. Police said the car derailed at 5:11.

Late last night, the police department and railroad detectives still were attempting to determine what caused the boxcar to run away. Capt. Robert Pyle headed the investigation for the local department.

Why Pay to Heat 4 Houses

When you use only One? Heat with Gas for about ¼ the cost of Wired Resistance Heat. It's a fact . . . you can heat about 4 houses with Gas for what it costs to heat only one with Wired Resistance Heating! Not only is Gas heat more economical, it does a complete heating job. Fresh air is gently circulated and filtered clean in a forced air Gas System. Your entire home is kept comfortable by setting just one thermostat. And you can add central Gas cooling whenever you wish.

Contrast the automatic Gas system with wired resistance heat which offers no air circulation, no ventilation, no filtering of the air, and individual room thermostats that require separate adjusting. Which system is more modern? We think you will decide for Gas, when you get all the facts and compare both systems. Gas heating is used in practically all new homes today, where Gas is available.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Lucy Sticks Out Her Neck

It's a month yet before the new "Lucy Show" goes on the air, but Lucille Ball already is tired of being asked, "Why are you doing this — how can you top the old 'I Love Lucy' shows?"

Hal Humphrey

"They don't seem to understand that I'm not trying to prove anything and nobody's out to top 'I Love Lucy.'" I know several actors in this town who won't work, either because they're worried about not being able to top their last performance or they feel the jobs offered them are beneath their dignity," says Lucy.

-:-

"I GET IMPATIENT with these young actors who keep saying to themselves, 'Should I take this part?' Or, if they do take it, then start griping about the money and the billing.

"Instead of making demands, they should just be asking the director what time he wants them to report for work.

"These kids don't realize that the correct time to make demands is when it's not necessary," Lucy adds, with a toss of her flaming red hair.

Some of these actors Lucy refer to might accuse her of talking like a boss. After all, she is a vice president in the multimillion-dollar Desilu empire and got her share of over $5 million when she and former husband Desi Arnaz unloaded the 180 half-hour "I L Lucy" episodes to CBS in 1957.

BUT LUCY doesn't act like a boss, just a genuine professional. She was the same early in 1951 when she was doing "My Favorite Husband" on radio and didn't have anything but Desi and a roomful of bongo drums.

"Nothing is beneath my dignity," states the lanky comedienne, who has done everything on TV from tromping around barefoot in a tub of grapes to portraying the slapstickiest state of pregnancy ever shared by 40 million anxious TV onlookers.

"Too many of these young people are afraid to stick their necks out. I enjoy sticking mine out. Otherwise, you don't get to know failure, and that's what makes the successes so sweet," Lucy adds in a rare philosophical mood.

SINCE SHE doesn't need money, has a new husband in Gary Morton and was admittedly tired of TV's weekly grind when she and Desi quit after six seasons of it, why is she coming back for more?

"Sure, you get tired and decide you want to look around for other things to do," says Lucy. "But after awhile you find there aren't so many other things. Most of the movie offers I get are for roles which take me too far away from my Lucy character.

"The stage keeps me from my kids too much. So here I am, and as long as people want to laugh, I want to be in there punching. I don't want to retire."

To make sure her neck isn't sticking out too far this time, Lucy has assembled the same team of writers (Madelyn Martin, Bob Carroll Jr., Bob Wieskopf and Bob Schiller), her sidekick Vivian Vance and ex-husband and business partner Desi Arnaz to put the new show together.

The TV Lucy is a widow with two kids now, but Desi is executive producer.

HER REAL MOTHER is back in her old seat in the makeshift studio bleachers where 300 fans fight for tickets to attend each week's filming, and the press agent who used to represent her old cigarette sponsor has returned for one of the new sponsors.

Lucy's mom and the press agent are both great laughers, and now they've been joined in the audience by husband Gary, whose laugh can push the needle right through the decibel meter.

"It's just like I never left," says Lucy happily as she bounces around the big Desilu sound stage at the end of a performance in which she and Vivian try to push a real live elephant's left hind foot off a $500 bill.

Besides her physical resilience, Lucy still reads a comedy line with a timing and snap which must turn other comics into lumps of pure envy. Like all good performers, however, she's as superstitious as a gypsy with a day-to-day store lease.

"I don't mind these TV critics wondering if I can make it a second time on TV, but do they have to do it out loud?" she pleads.

Boy, 17, Leaps Fence Into River At Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Dick Nicholson, 17, who was pulled out of the Niagara River just 300 feet above the Horseshoe Falls, says you shouldn't leap a fence until you know what's on the other side.

Dick, on a picnic Sunday with his family, vaulted a stone fence in a field and found himself tumbling down a 20-foot embankment. The Tonawanda, N.Y., boy landed in the raging Niagara River.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Cheerful Home Eases School Fears

Recently, we considered preparation and guidance of the child going back to school or entering school for the first time. Let us consider today what we parents may do just before and during the first few weeks of school for the success, welfare and happiness of the school child.

Dr. Garry Meyers

It's during the first few weeks of school when children will profit greatly from a comfortable, cheerful family atmosphere. While this is especially true for the child entering school for the first time, many, if not all, older children need a favorable home climate for doing best at school after a long vacation.

—:—

LET US REMEMBER That many older children have moved with their families and have to adapt to many new persons and ways — new teachers, new methods, new textbooks and new learning standards. Besides, there are new adaptations for any child during the first few weeks of school.

Here are some suggestions to parents to be followed during the early weeks of school.

1. Try to find ways to be relaxed, especially on school evenings.

2. Plan to avoid, as far as possible, away - from - home meetings and community activities requiring excessive time and concern. If you consider the importance of these first few school weeks you will strive hard in this direction.

TRY VERY hard to be companionable with each other as parents and with the children. Endeavor harder than usual to arouse smiles and laughter, especially at the evening meal, to report funny things that happened to you during the day and to encourage the children to do likewise.

Make this your slogan: "And there never was heard a discouraging word". The skillful parent may set the stage well, with the result that the children generally will report happy experiences of the day.

If there is a child too young for school, say from three to five, he may feel depressed if his older brother or sister constantly relates wonderful experiences at school. In this event, make sure this preschool child will also enjoy telling of his day at home.

My bulletins, "The Nervous Jittery Mother", "Fathers Are Parents, Too", and "Enjoying Our Children", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Lucy Sticks Out Her Neck

It's a month yet before the new "Lucy Show" goes on the air, but Lucille Ball already is tired of being asked, "Why are you doing this — how can you top the old 'I Love Lucy' shows?"

Hal Humphrey

"They don't seem to understand that I'm not trying to prove anything and nobody's out to top 'I Love Lucy.'" I know several actors in this town who won't work, either because they're worried about not being able to top their last performance or they feel the jobs offered them are beneath their dignity," says Lucy.

-:-

"I GET IMPATIENT with these young actors who keep saying to themselves, 'Should I take this part?' Or, if they do take it, then start griping about the money and the billing.

"Instead of making demands, they should just be asking the director what time he wants them to report for work.

"These kids don't realize that the correct time to make demands is when it's not necessary," Lucy adds, with a toss of her flaming red hair.

Some of these actors Lucy refer to might accuse her of talking like a boss. After all, she is a vice president in the multimillion-dollar Desilu empire and got her share of over $5 million when she and former husband Desi Arnaz unloaded the 180 half-hour "I L Lucy" episodes to CBS in 1957.

BUT LUCY doesn't act like a boss, just a genuine professional. She was the same early in 1951 when she was doing "My Favorite Husband" on radio and didn't have anything but Desi and a roomful of bongo drums.

"Nothing is beneath my dignity," states the lanky comedienne, who has done everything on TV from tromping around barefoot in a tub of grapes to portraying the slapstickiest state of pregnancy ever shared by 40 million anxious TV onlookers.

"Too many of these young people are afraid to stick their necks out. I enjoy sticking mine out. Otherwise, you don't get to know failure, and that's what makes the successes so sweet," Lucy adds in a rare philosophical mood.

SINCE SHE doesn't need money, has a new husband in Gary Morton and was admittedly tired of TV's weekly grind when she and Desi quit after six seasons of it, why is she coming back for more?

"Sure, you get tired and decide you want to look around for other things to do," says Lucy. "But after awhile you find there aren't so many other things. Most of the movie offers I get are for roles which take me too far away from my Lucy character.

"The stage keeps me from my kids too much. So here I am, and as long as people want to laugh, I want to be in there punching. I don't want to retire."

To make sure her neck isn't sticking out too far this time, Lucy has assembled the same team of writers (Madelyn Martin, Bob Carroll Jr., Bob Wieskopf and Bob Schiller), her sidekick Vivian Vance and ex-husband and business partner Desi Arnaz to put the new show together.

The TV Lucy is a widow with two kids now, but Desi is executive producer.

HER REAL MOTHER is back in her old seat in the makeshift studio bleachers where 300 fans fight for tickets to attend each week's filming, and the press agent who used to represent her old cigarette sponsor has returned for one of the new sponsors.

Lucy's mom and the press agent are both great laughers, and now they've been joined in the audience by husband Gary, whose laugh can push the needle right through the decibel meter.

"It's just like I never left," says Lucy happily as she bounces around the big Desilu sound stage at the end of a performance in which she and Vivian try to push a real live elephant's left hind foot off a $500 bill.

Besides her physical resilience, Lucy still reads a comedy line with a timing and snap which must turn other comics into lumps of pure envy. Like all good performers, however, she's as superstitious as a gypsy with a day-to-day store lease.

"I don't mind these TV critics wondering if I can make it a second time on TV, but do they have to do it out loud?" she pleads.

Boy, 17, Leaps Fence Into River At Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Dick Nicholson, 17, who was pulled out of the Niagara River just 300 feet above the Horseshoe Falls, says you shouldn't leap a fence until you know what's on the other side.

Dick, on a picnic Sunday with his family, vaulted a stone fence in a field and found himself tumbling down a 20-foot embankment. The Tonawanda, N.Y., boy landed in the raging Niagara River.

320,459 At Ohio Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eleven days of activities brought a total of 320,459 paying customers to the 1962 Ohio State Fair. The exposition ended Monday night with a fireworks display before the grandstand. Attendance figure for the final day was 9,768.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Cheerful Home Eases School Fears

Recently, we considered preparation and guidance of the child going back to school or entering school for the first time. Let us consider today what we parents may do just before and during the first few weeks of school for the success, welfare and happiness of the school child.

Dr. Garry Meyers

It's during the first few weeks of school when children will profit greatly from a comfortable, cheerful family atmosphere. While this is especially true for the child entering school for the first time, many, if not all, older children need a favorable home climate for doing best at school after a long vacation.

—:—

LET US REMEMBER That many older children have moved with their families and have to adapt to many new persons and ways — new teachers, new methods, new textbooks and new learning standards. Besides, there are new adaptations for any child during the first few weeks of school.

Here are some suggestions to parents to be followed during the early weeks of school.

1. Try to find ways to be relaxed, especially on school evenings.

2. Plan to avoid, as far as possible, away - from - home meetings and community activities requiring excessive time and concern. If you consider the importance of these first few school weeks you will strive hard in this direction.

TRY VERY hard to be companionable with each other as parents and with the children. Endeavor harder than usual to arouse smiles and laughter, especially at the evening meal, to report funny things that happened to you during the day and to encourage the children to do likewise.

Make this your slogan: "And there never was heard a discouraging word". The skillful parent may set the stage well, with the result that the children generally will report happy experiences of the day.

If there is a child too young for school, say from three to five, he may feel depressed if his older brother or sister constantly relates wonderful experiences at school. In this event, make sure this preschool child will also enjoy telling of his day at home.

My bulletins, "The Nervous Jittery Mother", "Fathers Are Parents, Too", and "Enjoying Our Children", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 4, the 247th day of 1962. There are 118 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1781, Los Angeles was founded by an expedition under Gaspar de Portola which had reached an indian village on the site of the present city in 1769. But the pioneers did not establish the community as a pueblo until 1781.

On this date

In 1886, Apache Indians under Chief Geronimo surrendered to Gen. Nelson Miles at Skeleton Canyon, Ariz., ending the nation's last important Indian disturbance.

In 1917, the American Expeditionary Forces suffered their first casualty in France.

In 1919, Germany's Graf Zeppelin completed a trip around the world.

In 1939, France issued its first World War II communique.

In 1940, Adolf Hitler boasted there would be a Nazi invasion of Britain.

Today's birthday: U.S. Diplomat K. L. Rankin is 64.

Twins 3 Games Off Pace After Allison Leads Sweep

Sanford's 20th Victory Is Big One, Over Dodgers, 7-3

Yankees In Split With Los Angeles

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Bob Allison is straightening out for the stretch drive, it could prove a big factor in the Minnesota Twins' long shot crack at the American League pennant.

The hefty outfielder had one of his most productive afternoons of the year Monday as the Twins swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators 9-3 and 4-3.

Allison opened up a decisive four-run burst with a second-inning single in the first game and won the second with a three-run homer in the eighth—his fifth hit and second homer of the day.

With the ex-University of Kansas halfback leading the way, the Twins closed to within three games of the front-running New York Yankees, who split with Los Angeles. The Yanks cut loose for five runs in the seventh inning and ran off with the opener 8-2, but the Angels staged a rally of their own in the ninth inning of the second game and won 6-5. The third-place Angels remained 4½ lengths behind New York.

Detroit continued its domination over Baltimore and took over fourth place with twin victories over the Orioles, 1-0 in 10 innings and 4-1; Cleveland edged Chicago twice, 4-3 and 6-5; and Kansas City divided with Boston, the Athletics taking the first game 8-5, and the Red Sox winning the second 3-1.

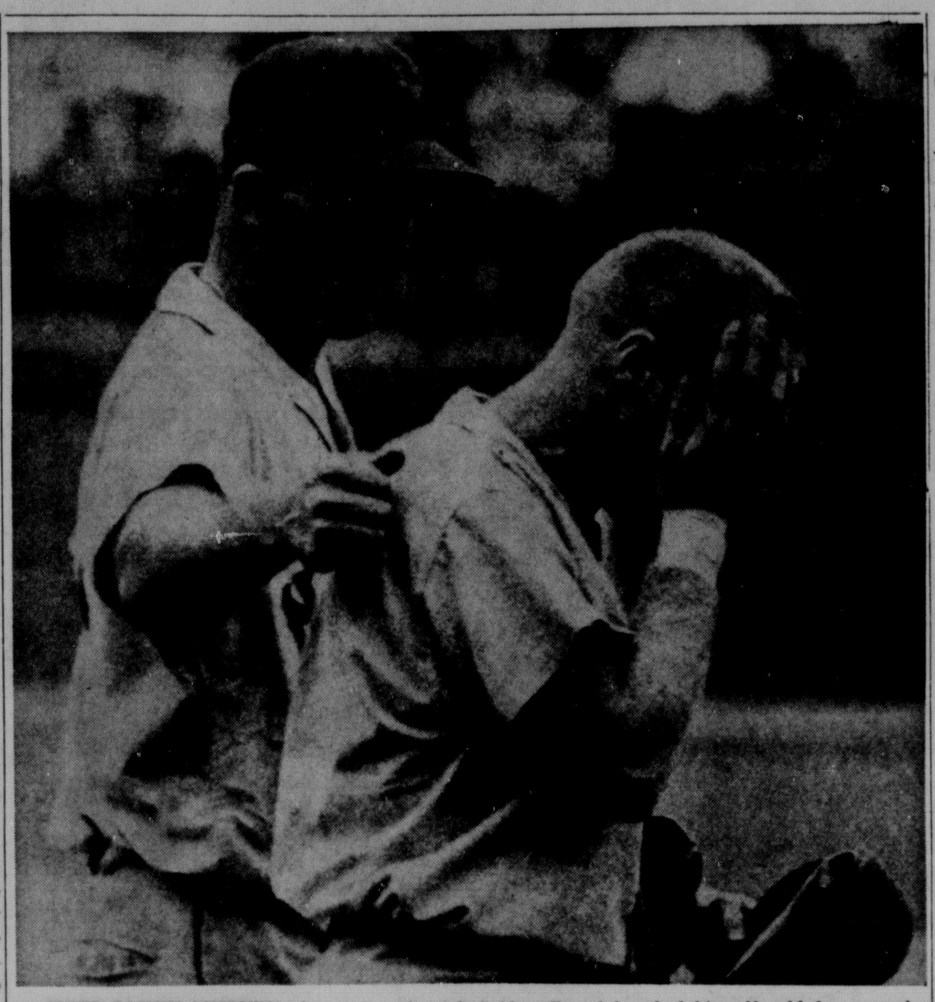

The Angels, apparently doomed to a double defeat at Yankee Stadium, got only two hits through seven innings of the second game against Jim Coates before Albie Pearson put them in the running with a two-run homer in the eighth. Then they erupted in the ninth, pouring across four runs off Coates and loser Luis Arroyo. George Thomas sent in the winning run with a pinch single after singles by Lee Thomas, Leon Wagner and Leo Burke and a double by Bob Rodgers.

Tom Tresh and Roger Maris hit two-run doubles as the Yankees scored five times in the seventh for their first-game victory.

The Tigers have now beaten the Orioles seven straight and hold a 14-2 season edge on Baltimore. Dick Brown delivered the only run of the first game with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 10th, giving left-hander Don Mossi his first victory since July 20. Phil Regan won the second with an eight-hitter, getting home run support from Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline and Mike Roark.

The Indians, losers in 10 of 11 previous meetings with the White Sox, nipped Chicago in the opener when Jerry Kindall's bloop single in the ninth cashed in an unearned run. The loss went to Early Wynn, in his fourth try for a 299th career victory. Cleveland ran up a 5-0 lead in the second game and produced the clinching run on Al Luplow's double and Tito Francona's single in the seventh.

Don Schwall's four-hit pitching in the second game led the Red Sox as they gained the split with the Athletics. Ed Charles, George Alusik and Norm Siebern paced the A's in the opener, combining for six hits and six runs batted in.

METS' RICHIE ASHBURN who ran into the rightfield wall and knocked himself cold for several minutes is given a pat of encouragement from Frank Thomas as he re-enters the game against the Pirates Monday at Pittsburgh. Ashburn hit the wall while he tried for Bill Mazeroski's double to right in the fifth inning. (UPI Telephoto)

Giants Now Trail NL Leaders By 2½

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Sanford didn't stop at 19 this time.

The veteran 33-year-old San Francisco right-hander posted his 20th victory Monday by limiting Los Angeles to eight hits in a 7-3 triumph that moved the second-place Giants to within 2½ games of the National League-leading Dodgers.

Where does 19 fit in?

As a boy in Wellsley, Mass., Sanford was engaged in a unique program of violin lessons. When he completed the full 20-lesson course, young Jack was to receive a free violin. He didn't get it. On the day of the 20th lesson, Sanford ducked out to pitch in a sandlot game.

Some years later, as a rookie with Philadelphia in 1957, Sanford was headed for 20 victories when he received an urgent telephone call. It was his mother. She had only one request.

"Please don't stop at 19 this time."

Sanford wound up with a 19-8 mark. But there was no stopping him Monday, as he recorded victory No. 20—his 14th straight—with home run support from Willie Mays and Tom Haller in the opener of the key four-game series.

The Giants' triumph also ended their 10-game losing streak at Los Angeles and represented Sanford's first route-going performance against the Dodgers in 15 games.

Meanwhile at Houston, the Colts staged "break the jinx" night, employing a hex specialist, black cat, witch doctor and Al Capp's little Joe Btsflk in an attempt to snap a 15-game losing string to Philadelphia. The Phils didn't cooperate, winning a doubleheader, 3-2 as Art Mahaffey won his 18th, and 5-3.

Elsewhere, third-place Cincinnati shut out Milwaukee 3-0 as Joey Jay won his 21st with a four-hitter, the Chicago Cubs took a pair from St. Louis, 6-2 and 5-2, and Pittsburgh swept the New York Mets 2-0 and 5-4.

Mays, who scored the first Giant run in the second inning, propelled San Francisco to the victory with his 42nd homer, a three-run shot off Dodger starter Stan Williams (12-10) in the third inning that broke a 1-1 tie.

Jay (21-11), beating his former Brave teammates for the third time in four tries this season, hurled his fourth shutout while extending Milwaukee's scoreless innings streak to 21. Batterymate John Edwards provided the key hit for the Reds, a two-run homer in the second inning off Bob Hendley (10-11).

The Colts led 2-0 in the first game behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Farrell (9-18) until the eighth when John Callison's homer tied it. A triple by Tony Taylor and Billy Klaus' single in the ninth won it for the Phils and Mahaffey (18-11) who allowed just four hits. In the nightcap, Roy Sievers' two-run triple was the major blow of a four-run third inning outburst that put the game out of Houston's reach. The victory went to Jack Hamilton (8-11) with Hal Woodeshick (5-16) the loser.

Billy Williams drove in three runs with a single and double in the Cubs' first game triumph as Glen Hobbie (5-12) held the Cards scoreless after the second inning to post the victory. Bob Gibson (15-11) was the loser. Stan Musial's eighth inning homer gave the Cards a 2-2 tie in the nightcap, but the Cubs came back with three in the ninth to tag Don Ferrarese (1-5) with the loss. Don Cardwell (7-14) was the winner with a seven-hitter.

Bob Friend (16-12) pitched a six-hitter and Dick Groat accounted for both runs with a fifth inning double as the Pirates beat the Mets and Jay Hook (8-16) in the opener. ElRoy Face picked up his 23rd save in the nightcap, stopping a New York rally and preserving the triumph for Al McBean (15-8). McBean drove in what turned out to be the decisive run with a fifth inning single off Roger Craig (7-22).

Maxwell Wins Dallas Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billy Maxwell's straight shooting golf brought him first money in the $35,000 Dallas Open Monday and set his sights on a jackpot in the west—the $20,000 bonus tournaments at Denver, Seattle, Portland, Las Vegas and Bakersfield.

Quite heartening was the red-haired Texan's first tournament victory in a year. He had been one of the most consistent money-winners, finishing in the cash 22 times in 27 tournaments. But that first place eluded him until he started his down-the-middle, sharp driving, excellent putting over the 6,658-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Maxwell was leading by four strokes opening the final round. He jumped out to a 1-under-par 32 on the front nine to beat off all challengers, then came in with conservative, methodical play to post a 1-over-par 71 that gave him 277 for 72 holes. He still held the four-stroke lead at the finish, with Johnny Pott, 1960 Dallas Open champion, winding up second with 281. Pott also had a closing 71.

Reed Becomes Surprise In National Net Play

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Happy-go-lucky Whitney Reed, the country's No. 1 tennis player, made an alarming discovery when he received his top ranking—you're not supposed to lose to anybody.

"And that," said Reed today, "put the pressure on me. You know, you go along the circuit and there are some guys you are expected to beat and others who are expected to beat you. But when you're No. 1, you'd better not get beaten by anyone."

Reed, who just turned 30, has had a horrible year—so bad that he wasn't even considered, much less selected, for the Davis Cup team that lost to Mexico in the American zone finals last month.

He wasn't even seeded in the national championships. But he already has reached the third round along with all the favorites except fifth-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia, who dropped a 6-1, 8-6, 11-9 decision to Gordon Forbes of South Africa. Reed whipped Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis Monday, 6-3, 6-0, 7-5.

Now he runs into a toughie, Rafael Osuna, Mexican Davis Cupper, and No. 4 seed, who ousted Sweden's Ulf Schmidt, 8-10, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Rod Laver, No. 1 and Roy Emerson, No. 2, the Australian Davis Cup twins, each had an easy assignment. Laver took care of Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador, 6-3 6-3, 6-1, and Emerson eliminated young Arthur Ashe Jr., of Richmond, Va., 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Chuck McKinley, of St. Ann., Mo., No. 3 and America's top hope for the title, whipped past Andrej Licis of Poland, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

68 Captures Honors In Riverview League

68 took honors Monday in the Riverview Golf League at the East Palestine Country Club.

Members of the winning squad were Don Black, Lawrence Todd, Mike Cebula and Ed Millward. Paul Stanley was medalist with 76.

Sunday a 66 was tops fired by Ron Talbott, Stanley, Dick Osborn and Jim Cudworth. Talbott's 72 took medalist.

Browns Cut Squad To 38

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns were down close to their regular season playing strength today after sending end Charley Ferguson and three other players to the Minnesota Vikings.

The four were traded Monday for an undisclosed draft choice. The Browns were to ask waivers on the injured Stan Sczurek to get down to the limit of 38 which had to be met today.

Two more men must be cut by next Tuesday to reduce to the final 36-player limit.

Coach Paul Brown said it was a choice between Bobby Crespino or Ferguson. Both joined the team as rookies last year. Ferguson, from Tennessee State, reported late this year after putting in six months in the service and failed to show anticipated improvement.

Others to go were Erroll Linden, offensive tackle; defensive halfback Tom Franckhauser who came to the Browns from Dallas, and rookie placekicking specialist Fred Cox from Pitt.

Seven rookies are left on the squad, and six seem sure of making the team. The seven include three from the offensive squad—end Gary Collins from Maryland, halfback Ernie Green from Louisville and tackle John Brown from Syracuse. On the defense are linebackers Mike Lucci of Tennessee and Sam Tidmore of Ohio State, end Frank Parker from Oklahoma State, and halfback Jim Shorter of Detroit.

Shorter, who has been hampered by a wart on his foot, has been competing against veterans Bobby Franklin and Jim Shofner in the defensive backfield, where one man probably will be cut.

Twins 3 Games Off Pace After Allison Leads Sweep

Sanford's 20th Victory Is Big One, Over Dodgers, 7-3

Yankees In Split With Los Angeles

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Bob Allison is straightening out for the stretch drive, it could prove a big factor in the Minnesota Twins' long shot crack at the American League pennant.

The hefty outfielder had one of his most productive afternoons of the year Monday as the Twins swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators 9-3 and 4-3.

Allison opened up a decisive four-run burst with a second-inning single in the first game and won the second with a three-run homer in the eighth—his fifth hit and second homer of the day.

With the ex-University of Kansas halfback leading the way, the Twins closed to within three games of the front-running New York Yankees, who split with Los Angeles. The Yanks cut loose for five runs in the seventh inning and ran off with the opener 8-2, but the Angels staged a rally of their own in the ninth inning of the second game and won 6-5. The third-place Angels remained 4½ lengths behind New York.

Detroit continued its domination over Baltimore and took over fourth place with twin victories over the Orioles, 1-0 in 10 innings and 4-1; Cleveland edged Chicago twice, 4-3 and 6-5; and Kansas City divided with Boston, the Athletics taking the first game 8-5, and the Red Sox winning the second 3-1.

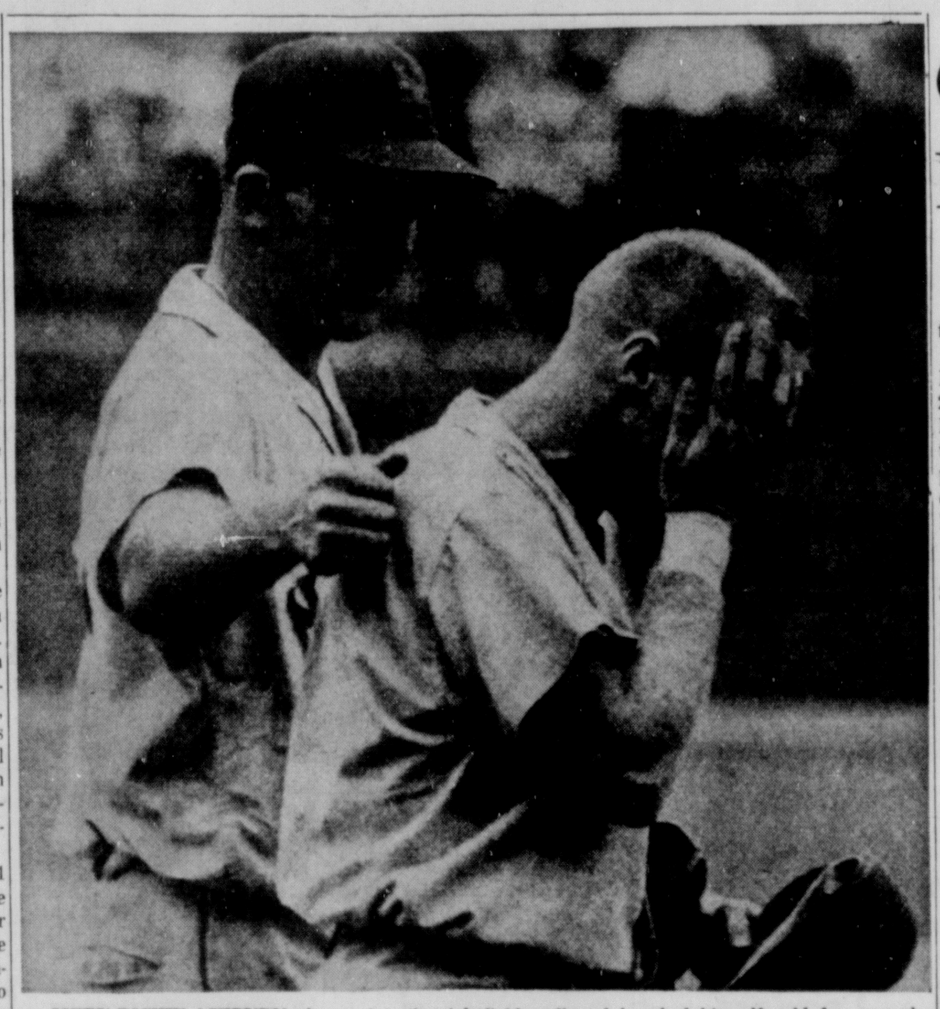

The Angels, apparently doomed to a double defeat at Yankee Stadium, got only two hits through seven innings of the second game against Jim Coates before Albie Pearson put them in the running with a two-run homer in the eighth. Then they erupted in the ninth, pouring across four runs off Coates and loser Luis Arroyo. George Thomas sent in the winning run with a pinch single after singles by Lee Thomas, Leon Wagner and Leo Burke and a double by Bob Rodgers.

Tom Tresh and Roger Maris hit two-run doubles as the Yankees scored five times in the seventh for their first-game victory.

The Tigers have now beaten the Orioles seven straight and hold a 14-2 season edge on Baltimore. Dick Brown delivered the only run of the first game with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 10th, giving left-hander Don Mossi his first victory since July 20. Phil Regan won the second with an eight-hitter, getting home run support from Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline and Mike Roark.

The Indians, losers in 10 of 11 previous meetings with the White Sox, nipped Chicago in the opener when Jerry Kindall's bloop single in the ninth cashed in an unearned run. The loss went to Early Wynn, in his fourth try for a 299th career victory. Cleveland ran up a 5-0 lead in the second game and produced the clinching run on Al Luplow's double and Tito Francona's single in the seventh.

Don Schwall's four-hit pitching in the second game led the Red Sox as they gained the split with the Athletics. Ed Charles, George Alusik and Norm Siebern paced the A's in the opener, combining for six hits and six runs batted in.

METS' RICHIE ASHBURN who ran into the rightfield wall and knocked himself cold for several minutes is given a pat of encouragement from Frank Thomas as he re-enters the game against the Pirates Monday at Pittsburgh. Ashburn hit the wall while he tried for Bill Mazeroski's double to right in the fifth inning. (UPI Telephoto)

Giants Now Trail NL Leaders By 2½

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Sanford didn't stop at 19 this time.

The veteran 33-year-old San Francisco right-hander posted his 20th victory Monday by limiting Los Angeles to eight hits in a 7-3 triumph that moved the second-place Giants to within 2½ games of the National League-leading Dodgers.

Where does 19 fit in?

As a boy in Wellsley, Mass., Sanford was engaged in a unique program of violin lessons. When he completed the full 20-lesson course, young Jack was to receive a free violin. He didn't get it. On the day of the 20th lesson, Sanford ducked out to pitch in a sandlot game.

Some years later, as a rookie with Philadelphia in 1957, Sanford was headed for 20 victories when he received an urgent telephone call. It was his mother. She had only one request.

"Please don't stop at 19 this time."

Sanford wound up with a 19-8 mark. But there was no stopping him Monday, as he recorded victory No. 20—his 14th straight—with home run support from Willie Mays and Tom Haller in the opener of the key four-game series.

The Giants' triumph also ended their 10-game losing streak at Los Angeles and represented Sanford's first route-going performance against the Dodgers in 15 games.

Meanwhile at Houston, the Colts staged "break the jinx" night, employing a hex specialist, black cat, witch doctor and Al Capp's little Joe Btsflk in an attempt to snap a 15-game losing string to Philadelphia. The Phils didn't cooperate, winning a doubleheader, 3-2 as Art Mahaffey won his 18th, and 5-3.

Elsewhere, third-place Cincinnati shut out Milwaukee 3-0 as Joey Jay won his 21st with a four-hitter, the Chicago Cubs took a pair from St. Louis, 6-2 and 5-2, and Pittsburgh swept the New York Mets 2-0 and 5-4.

Mays, who scored the first Giant run in the second inning, propelled San Francisco to the victory with his 42nd homer, a three-run shot off Dodger starter Stan Williams (12-10) in the third inning that broke a 1-1 tie.

Jay (21-11), beating his former Brave teammates for the third time in four tries this season, hurled his fourth shutout while extending Milwaukee's scoreless innings streak to 21. Batterymate John Edwards provided the key hit for the Reds, a two-run homer in the second inning off Bob Hendley (10-11).

The Colts led 2-0 in the first game behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Farrell (9-18) until the eighth when John Callison's homer tied it. A triple by Tony Taylor and Billy Klaus' single in the ninth won it for the Phils and Mahaffey (18-11) who allowed just four hits. In the nightcap, Roy Sievers' two-run triple was the major blow of a four-run third inning outburst that put the game out of Houston's reach. The victory went to Jack Hamilton (8-11) with Hal Woodeshick (5-16) the loser.

Billy Williams drove in three runs with a single and double in the Cubs' first game triumph as Glen Hobbie (5-12) held the Cards scoreless after the second inning to post the victory. Bob Gibson (15-11) was the loser. Stan Musial's eighth inning homer gave the Cards a 2-2 tie in the nightcap, but the Cubs came back with three in the ninth to tag Don Ferrarese (1-5) with the loss. Don Cardwell (7-14) was the winner with a seven-hitter.

Bob Friend (16-12) pitched a six-hitter and Dick Groat accounted for both runs with a fifth inning double as the Pirates beat the Mets and Jay Hook (8-16) in the opener. ElRoy Face picked up his 23rd save in the nightcap, stopping a New York rally and preserving the triumph for Al McBean (15-8). McBean drove in what turned out to be the decisive run with a fifth inning single off Roger Craig (7-22).

Maxwell Wins Dallas Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Billy Maxwell's straight shooting golf brought him first money in the $35,000 Dallas Open Monday and set his sights on a jackpot in the west—the $20,000 bonus tournaments at Denver, Seattle, Portland, Las Vegas and Bakersfield.

Quite heartening was the red-haired Texan's first tournament victory in a year. He had been one of the most consistent money-winners, finishing in the cash 22 times in 27 tournaments. But that first place eluded him until he started his down-the-middle, sharp driving, excellent putting over the 6,658-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Maxwell was leading by four strokes opening the final round. He jumped out to a 1-under-par 32 on the front nine to beat off all challengers, then came in with conservative, methodical play to post a 1-over-par 71 that gave him 277 for 72 holes. He still held the four-stroke lead at the finish, with Johnny Pott, 1960 Dallas Open champion, winding up second with 281. Pott also had a closing 71.

Polce Has 11 Lettermen, But Lacks Reserves At Midland

Enrollment Down; Opener Friday Night

By ANDY NUZZO

Elevn lettermen are returning to form a fine nucleus for the 1962 Midland Leopard football team, but head coach Charles Polce finds his main problem the lack of experienced reserves to back up his first squad.

Midland High School enrollment is down to 274 students in the top three grades this year, due to the building of the new Western Beaver County Junior - Senior High School.

Graduation stripped the Leopards of eleven seniors, the biggest loss being that of All-MAC, ALL-WPIAL quarterback Steve Trbovich, who was at the helm of the Leopards almost the entire 1961 season when Midland had a 3-5-1 slate.

OTHERS who have departed the scene are ends Paul Cacic and John Girting; tackle Bob Love; guards Lou Kruel, Henry Tookes and Dave Troup; center Paul Anthony; halfbacks Tim Epley, Rich Spanik and Pete Brozic.

The quarterback post should be held down by senior letterman Don Miller (165), who played mostly in the defensive backfield last season. Backing him are Ron Dominici, a 160-pound junior, and Norman Van Lier, a 150-pound sophomore.

Crozier Beats Carry Back In Aqueduct Run

Associated Press Sports Writer

Crozier, who has been making a career of finishing second in the big ones—especially to Carry Back—finally found out what the winner's circle looked like in the $106,300 Aqueduct Stakes.

Fred W. Hooper's 4-year-old son of My Babu-Miss Olympia won his first race of the year at Aqueduct Monday before 70,123, second largest crowd in history of New York racing. He did it the hard way, beating the current leader of the handicap ranks, Carry Back, and the No. 2 colt in the 3-year-old division, Ridan.

While a little of the luster was being rubbed off Carry Back's bid for the handicap division title, Rex Ellsworth's Prove It strengthened his claim with a nose victory in the $113,450 Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park.

In winning his sixth straight stakes of the year, the 5-year old son of Endeavour the 2nd matched Arlington's track record for the mile with a clocking of 1 minute 33 4-5s seconds under 131 pounds. He earned $68,450, boosted his 1962 winnings to $348,750 and his career bankroll to $612,320. Try Cash, a 40-1 shot, was second.

Mother And Son Win Field Trial Honors

Field champion Red Bay Susie Que, owned by Alfred Bayless of Newell won first place in the 13 inch division Monday at the East Liverpool Beagle Club.

Her son field champion White Crest Hans Jr. owned by Charles White of East Liverpool won first spot in the 15 inch division.

It marked the second trial this summer that the mother and son combination have emerged as winners.

Ravenna Youth Takes Life In Mansfield Cell

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A 19-year-old inmate of the Ohio State Reformatory was found dead in his cell Monday night, a plastic bag over his head. It was secured by a rubber band around his neck.

Authorities said Daniel L. Jones suffocated, in an evident suicide.

Polce Has 11 Lettermen, But Lacks Reserves At Midland

Enrollment Down; Opener Friday Night

By ANDY NUZZO

Elevn lettermen are returning to form a fine nucleus for the 1962 Midland Leopard football team, but head coach Charles Polce finds his main problem the lack of experienced reserves to back up his first squad.

Midland High School enrollment is down to 274 students in the top three grades this year, due to the building of the new Western Beaver County Junior - Senior High School.

Graduation stripped the Leopards of eleven seniors, the biggest loss being that of All-MAC, ALL-WPIAL quarterback Steve Trbovich, who was at the helm of the Leopards almost the entire 1961 season when Midland had a 3-5-1 slate.

OTHERS who have departed the scene are ends Paul Cacic and John Girting; tackle Bob Love; guards Lou Kruel, Henry Tookes and Dave Troup; center Paul Anthony; halfbacks Tim Epley, Rich Spanik and Pete Brozic.

Leading the returning veterans is hard - charging, All-MAC fullback, Art "Earl" Vaughn, a 185-pound senior who led the Leopards in scoring and rushing last season. Behind him is a 170-pound sophomore, Harry Monahan.

The quarterback post should be held down by senior letterman Don Miller (165), who played mostly in the defensive backfield last season. Backing him are Ron Dominici, a 160-pound junior, and Norman Van Lier, a 150-pound sophomore.

Mother And Son Win Field Trial Honors

Field champion Red Bay Susie Que, owned by Alfred Bayless of Newell won first place in the 13 inch division Monday at the East Liverpool Beagle Club.

Her son field champion White Crest Hans Jr. owned by Charles White of East Liverpool won first spot in the 15 inch division.

It marked the second trial this summer that the mother and son combination have emerged as winners.

Heart Attack Takes Cyclist

A 71-year-old Wellsville area man died of an apparent heart attack while riding his motorcycle on Route 21 about a quarter of a mile southeast of Newcomerstown Monday evening. He was returning home from Zanesville, where he had attended a motorcycle meet.

Charles H. Johnston of Route 39 in Yellow Creek Township, about a mile west of Wellsville, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Hospital at Coshocton at 6:45 p.m. following an accident on Route 21 near Newcomerstown.

His motorcycle left the highway and crashed over an embankment after he apparently suffered the heart attack.

Mr. Johnston had been riding motorcycles for years and was among the first in this area to own and operate one.

He was accompanied to the meet by Don Woodling of East Liverpool, who at the time of the accident was some distance ahead.

Witnesses said the victim had just passed some cars. The State Highway Patrol said his motorcycle apparently did not hit any object in the road. Tuscarawas County Coroner Phillips Doughton said there were no "obvious" injuries from the crash, although Mr. Johnston was bruised.

Mr. Johnston was born Feb. 25, 1891, at Petersville, Pa., to Daniel H. and Josephine Critchlow Johnston. He had resided at Wellsville for nearly 70 years. He was employed for many years as a machinist by the Wheeling Steel Co. at Steubenville, retiring in 1955. For many years he owned and operated a motorcycle repair shop on Route 39.

Survivors included two sons, William Johnston of Wellsville and Ralph Johnston of Bedford; a daughter, Mrs. James D. Laughlin, and a sister, Mrs. Lawrence Calder, both of East Liverpool, and six grandchildren and two great - grandchildren.

Services will be held at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville Thursday afternoon at 2 by the Rev. Bruce Davis of the Covenant United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Soviet Charge Being Investigated By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman said today the Defense Department is looking into the Russian complaint that a U.S. U2 reconnaissance plane flew over Sakhalin Island last Thursday.

"We are at the present time unaware of this situation, but it is under investigation," the spokesman said when asked about the Soviet charge.

He was asked if U2 flights over Soviet territory continue to be forbidden under the policy set up after the Francis Gary Powers case.

Search Fails To Find Missing Private Plane

Beaver's Lone Death

BEAVER — Robert Decker, 40, of Coraopolis died Sunday night shortly after the car in which he was a passenger was forced off Ridge Run Ext. near Ambridge and hit a pole. He was Beaver County's only traffic fatality over the long holiday weekend.

Iran Rushes Cleanup In Quake's Path

DAN-ISFAHAN, Iran (AP) — Weeping workers dug body after body today from the ruins left by Iran's worst earthquakes in 70 years and hurried them into graves to counter the threat of epidemics.

The official death toll from the tremors that devastated about 100 villages in northwest Iran Saturday night rose to "more than 4,000." The Iranian Red Cross said the dead might total 10,000 and that the number of injured were "beyond counting."

The Western world's governments and relief organizations assembled aid shipments for air transport. U.S. forces in Germany mounted an airlift to transport 10,000 blankets, 1,000 tents and a 100-bed hospital unit.

Thousands of soldiers and volunteers dug the bodies in the wreckage of mud huts scattered over 23,000 square miles of northwest Iran. Trains, buses and trucks took the injured to overflowing district hospitals and to Tehran.

The three savage quakes hit hardest in the oasis village of Dan-Isfahan, home of 4,200 persons 150 miles northwest of Tehran. Only 700 persons were left alive.

Women in veils wailed as weeping workers dug the mangled bodies from the ruins, wrapped them in white cloth and carried them on doors and shop signs to hillside graves.

As the sun climbed in the sky and the temperature climbed toward 100, the stench of death became almost unbearable.

A barefoot man trudged past with the corpse of his baby son balanced on his head.

"What shall I do, God, what shall I do?" wailed a boy, his face stained with dried blood, as he banged his head in the dust beside the bodies of his father, mother and seven brothers and sisters.

Others, stunned, probed the piles of mud brick and splintered wood and carried away what they could retrieve of their possessions —a kerosene lamp, an empty basket, a few quilts.

In nearby Kiavan, only 95 persons survived from a population of 495.

The government ordered nationwide mourning and canceled all music on radio broadcasts. Special prayers were said for the dead in all mosques.

Reports were still to come in from many villages far off the main roads.

The exact death toll probably will never be known.

Bolivia Quits OAS Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bolivia has walked out of the Organization of American States—at least temporarily—because of a wrangle with Chile over use of Lauca River water.

In a note to OAS Council President Albert Zulueta Angel Monday, Bolivia said it was suspending "its participation in the OAS Council and all of the organizations of the system" and blamed inaction over the river dispute.

Bolivia also announced its president, Victory Paz Estenssoro, has postponed an official visit to the United States because the sale of surplus tin from American emergency stockpiles "is endangering the Bolivian economy."

Foreign Minister Jose Fellman Belarde said no new date had been set for a visit to the United States. Paz Estenssoro had been scheduled to come here late this month.

The note to the OAS said Bolivia "hopes that her empty seat will remind sister nations of the continent that she continues to await a just solution of the matter of the Lauca River."

The OAS, after length discussion of the matter, adopted a resolution on May 24 calling for peaceful settlement of the dispute.

The matter arose when Chile began diverting water from the Lauca for an irrigation project. The river originates in Chile and flows across the border into Bolivia, ending in Coipaza Lake.

Bolivia charged that diversion was affecting the climate and hindering development of agriculture and cattle raising in the arid Coipaza Lake region.

Chardon Man 'Plays' Radio In Organ Music

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Instead of a stirring chord, Scott Bostwick may get a station break when he plays his electric organ.

Heart Attack Takes Cyclist

A 71-year-old Wellsville area man died of an apparent heart attack while riding his motorcycle on Route 21 about a quarter of a mile southeast of Newcomerstown Monday evening. He was returning home from Zanesville, where he had attended a motorcycle meet.

Charles H. Johnston of Route 39 in Yellow Creek Township, about a mile west of Wellsville, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Hospital at Coshocton at 6:45 p.m. following an accident on Route 21 near Newcomerstown.

His motorcycle left the highway and crashed over an embankment after he apparently suffered the heart attack.

Mr. Johnston had been riding motorcycles for years and was among the first in this area to own and operate one.

He was accompanied to the meet by Don Woodling of East Liverpool, who at the time of the accident was some distance ahead.

Witnesses said the victim had just passed some cars. The State Highway Patrol said his motorcycle apparently did not hit any object in the road. Tuscarawas County Coroner Phillips Doughton said there were no "obvious" injuries from the crash, although Mr. Johnston was bruised.

Mr. Johnston was born Feb. 25, 1891, at Petersville, Pa., to Daniel H. and Josephine Critchlow Johnston. He had resided at Wellsville for nearly 70 years. He was employed for many years as a machinist by the Wheeling Steel Co. at Steubenville, retiring in 1955. For many years he owned and operated a motorcycle repair shop on Route 39.

Survivors included two sons, William Johnston of Wellsville and Ralph Johnston of Bedford; a daughter, Mrs. James D. Laughlin, and a sister, Mrs. Lawrence Calder, both of East Liverpool, and six grandchildren and two great - grandchildren.

Services will be held at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville Thursday afternoon at 2 by the Rev. Bruce Davis of the Covenant United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Soviet Charge Being Investigated By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman said today the Defense Department is looking into the Russian complaint that a U.S. U2 reconnaissance plane flew over Sakhalin Island last Thursday.

"We are at the present time unaware of this situation, but it is under investigation," the spokesman said when asked about the Soviet charge.

He was asked if U2 flights over Soviet territory continue to be forbidden under the policy set up after the Francis Gary Powers case.

Search Fails To Find Missing Private Plane

Beaver's Lone Death

Iran Rushes Cleanup In Quake's Path

DAN-ISFAHAN, Iran (AP) — Weeping workers dug body after body today from the ruins left by Iran's worst earthquakes in 70 years and hurried them into graves to counter the threat of epidemics.

The official death toll from the tremors that devastated about 100 villages in northwest Iran Saturday night rose to "more than 4,000." The Iranian Red Cross said the dead might total 10,000 and that the number of injured were "beyond counting."

The Western world's governments and relief organizations assembled aid shipments for air transport. U.S. forces in Germany mounted an airlift to transport 10,000 blankets, 1,000 tents and a 100-bed hospital unit.

Thousands of soldiers and volunteers dug the bodies in the wreckage of mud huts scattered over 23,000 square miles of northwest Iran. Trains, buses and trucks took the injured to overflowing district hospitals and to Tehran.

The three savage quakes hit hardest in the oasis village of Dan-Isfahan, home of 4,200 persons 150 miles northwest of Tehran. Only 700 persons were left alive.

Women in veils wailed as weeping workers dug the mangled bodies from the ruins, wrapped them in white cloth and carried them on doors and shop signs to hillside graves.

As the sun climbed in the sky and the temperature climbed toward 100, the stench of death became almost unbearable.

A barefoot man trudged past with the corpse of his baby son balanced on his head.

"What shall I do, God, what shall I do?" wailed a boy, his face stained with dried blood, as he banged his head in the dust beside the bodies of his father, mother and seven brothers and sisters.

Others, stunned, probed the piles of mud brick and splintered wood and carried away what they could retrieve of their possessions —a kerosene lamp, an empty basket, a few quilts.

Women and children huddled in tents hastily set up by troops and Red Cross workers. Trucks came along a 20-mile cart track from the main road with bread.

In nearby Kiavan, only 95 persons survived from a population of 495.

The government ordered nationwide mourning and canceled all music on radio broadcasts. Special prayers were said for the dead in all mosques.

Reports were still to come in from many villages far off the main roads.

The exact death toll probably will never be known.

Bolivia Quits OAS Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bolivia has walked out of the Organization of American States—at least temporarily—because of a wrangle with Chile over use of Lauca River water.

In a note to OAS Council President Albert Zulueta Angel Monday, Bolivia said it was suspending "its participation in the OAS Council and all of the organizations of the system" and blamed inaction over the river dispute.

Bolivia also announced its president, Victory Paz Estenssoro, has postponed an official visit to the United States because the sale of surplus tin from American emergency stockpiles "is endangering the Bolivian economy."

Foreign Minister Jose Fellman Belarde said no new date had been set for a visit to the United States. Paz Estenssoro had been scheduled to come here late this month.

The note to the OAS said Bolivia "hopes that her empty seat will remind sister nations of the continent that she continues to await a just solution of the matter of the Lauca River."

The OAS, after length discussion of the matter, adopted a resolution on May 24 calling for peaceful settlement of the dispute.

The matter arose when Chile began diverting water from the Lauca for an irrigation project. The river originates in Chile and flows across the border into Bolivia, ending in Coipaza Lake.

Bolivia charged that diversion was affecting the climate and hindering development of agriculture and cattle raising in the arid Coipaza Lake region.

Chardon Man 'Plays' Radio In Organ Music

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Instead of a stirring chord, Scott Bostwick may get a station break when he plays his electric organ.

The organ somehow is tuned in to the local radio station. Neither Scott nor men from the station have figured out the trouble. The organ plays, however, but only in competition with the radio signal.

Rev. Code, Secs. 345.03; 3501.11 (G); 5705.191, 5705.25

NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a Resolution of the Board of Township Trustees of Liverpool Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, passed on the 13th day of July, 1962, there will be submitted to a vote of the people of said Liverpool Township at a General election to be held in Liverpool Township, Columbiana County, Ohio, at the regular places of voting therein, on Tuesday, the 6th day of November, 1962, the question of levying a tax, in excess of the ten-mill limitation, for the benefit of Liverpool Township for the purpose of providing an adequate amount for protection against fire within Liverpool Township.

Said tax being a renewal of an existing tax of one and three-tenths (1.3) mills to run for five years at a rate not exceeding one and three-tenths (1.3) mills for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to thirteen cents ($0.13) for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for each of the tax years 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1967.

The Polls for said Election will be open at 6:30 o'clock A. M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M. Eastern Standard Time of said day.

By order of the Board of Election of Columbiana County, Ohio
C. L. STACEY, Chairman
FRANK R. O'HANLON, Clerk
Dated July 27, 1962.

OFF THE RECORD

"We would have taken more vacation pictures but we had to hock the camera to get home."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Can you suggest a way to prevent a cigaret lighter from constantly slipping out of a blouse or shirt pocket?

A. Try wrapping a rubber band around the lighter a few times, and this should provide the necessary friction to prevent its slipping out easily.

Q. How can I keep the crust of meat pie from absorbing gravy?

A. Gravy will not soak through the lower crust of the meat pie if the white of an egg is brushed over the crust.

Q. What can I do when the gems keep falling out of some of my earrings and other pieces of costume jewelry?

A. You can try resetting them with some clear fingernail polish. Brush the colorless stuff into the setting, then press in your jewel, and allow to dry thoroughly. If the "stickum" pushes up around or over the stone, clean up the overflow with a piece of cleansing tissue just barely dampened with nail-polish remover.

Q. How can I preserve the natural color of knotty pine?

A. By treating it with a mixture of half turpentine and half linseed oil. A thorough treatment should be allowed to dry for two hours at least. Any excess may then be wiped off. Keep up the treatment until the wood no longer absorbs the mixture. Use a good, clean brush.

Q. How can I renovate a chamois that has stiffened up?

A. Soak it in warm water to which a spoonful of olive oil has been added. The chamois will emerge as soft and clean as when you bought it.

Q. How can I easily clean pans in which milk has been boiled?

A. Try covering the pan with a lid after pouring out the milk, and before the steam escapes. Allow the pan to cool, and then fill with cold water. The pan will wash out easily for you.

QUESTION: Why do we have a conscience?

ANSWER: Of course Ralph doesn't actually have a little boy on his shoulder who tells him what to do, but the little character in our picture is a symbol of something Ralph does have somewhere inside. We all know there are certain laws or rules about right and wrong. The trouble is we are apt to forget about them when we want something. This inner voice which we all have, which is generally called conscience, will always tell us when, in a certain situation, we are breaking some rule about right and wrong. For example, Ralph would like that last piece of pie. But his conscience is telling him, first, that it's impolite to grab the last piece without offering it to someone else, and second, that he's already had a piece and his mother hasn't had any yet. His conscience also suggests that it's time he grew up a bit and began to watch out for the welfare of other people besides himself. Ralph sees the sense of this. He's going to save that last piece of pie for his mother.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Can you suggest a way to prevent a cigaret lighter from constantly slipping out of a blouse or shirt pocket?

A. Try wrapping a rubber band around the lighter a few times, and this should provide the necessary friction to prevent its slipping out easily.

Q. How can I keep the crust of meat pie from absorbing gravy?

A. Gravy will not soak through the lower crust of the meat pie if the white of an egg is brushed over the crust.

Q. What can I do when the gems keep falling out of some of my earrings and other pieces of costume jewelry?

A. You can try resetting them with some clear fingernail polish. Brush the colorless stuff into the setting, then press in your jewel, and allow to dry thoroughly. If the "stickum" pushes up around or over the stone, clean up the overflow with a piece of cleansing tissue just barely dampened with nail-polish remover.

Q. How can I preserve the natural color of knotty pine?

A. By treating it with a mixture of half turpentine and half linseed oil. A thorough treatment should be allowed to dry for two hours at least. Any excess may then be wiped off. Keep up the treatment until the wood no longer absorbs the mixture. Use a good, clean brush.

Q. How can I renovate a chamois that has stiffened up?

A. Soak it in warm water to which a spoonful of olive oil has been added. The chamois will emerge as soft and clean as when you bought it.

Q. How can I easily clean pans in which milk has been boiled?

A. Try covering the pan with a lid after pouring out the milk, and before the steam escapes. Allow the pan to cool, and then fill with cold water. The pan will wash out easily for you.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Lyle and I have been married three years. We have a good marriage, except for one thing which bothers me something terrible.

Before Lyle met me he was engaged to a beautiful, sexy girl named Sherry. I'm not just taking his word for it, this is what I get from everybody who knew her. They broke up over religious differences.

Almost every day Lyle manages to bring Sherry into the conversation in one way or another. If I buy a new dress he'll say, "Sherry had a dress that same color." If he sees an especially beautiful girl on TV he'll say, "She looks a lot like Sherry." When I order clams he says, "Sherry could eat a dozen of those things.

I have ignored these references completely. He has no idea how the mention of her name starts me churning inside. It used to be annoying. Now it's maddening. What should I do? — GALLED.

Dear Galled: The one that got away always looks better—and it improves with age. Unfortunately, some women (and men as well) allow themselves to be seared needlessly by old flames which flickered and died long ago.

If the mention of this girl's name is "maddening" don't just sit there and get high blood pressure. Tell him you're bored hearing about Sherry and please change the needle — and you do mean needle.

Free Maid Service

Dear Ann: When I was 24 years old I made a bad marriage. Like many other girls I was afraid of being an old maid so I settled for a man who wasn't right for me. We were divorced a year later.

Now I'm 31 and more sensible. But maybe I'm making another kind of mistake. Please listen to my story and tell me.

I met Percy at work. We seemed to hit it off from the start. He took me out regularly for three years. Five months ago he suggested that I date other fellows until he could "see his way clear." He said we'd have one date a week — on Sunday.

Every Sunday I take a bus over to his apartment. I clean the place from top to bottom, do his hand laundry and cook dinner. Usually we watch TV. Sometimes we go to a movie or to a band concert in the park.

My girl friend says I'm crazy to go on like this, but I think Percy will marry me if I show him I'm willing to settle for the simple things in life. Do you agree? — EVELYN.

Dear Evelyn: You'll drop dead doing his housework before he marries you. Any similarity between a Sunday date and the program you outlined is purely miraculous.

Write Percy off for the cheapskate he is and start to move in other circles.

Brief Romance

Dear Ann: I'm 14 but tall for my age. I could (and do) pass for 16 — especially in a bathing suit.

I met a swell kid at the beach three weeks ago. He's 19 and so good looking all the girls were jealous when he asked to drive me home. He has teeth like Ben Casey.

He wanted my telephone number and I gave it to him. After one date he stopped calling. I looked up his number in the phone book and called him a few times but he was never home.

Yesterday I saw him at the beach and he asked me not to call him any more. He said his mother doesn't like it.

Do you think she really doesn't like it, or is this his idea? Please give me your frankest opinion. — DEEDEE.

Dear Deedee: My frankest opinion is that it doesn't make any difference whose idea it was. The boy was a little slow discovering he's too old for you. Now do both of you a favor and let him alone.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Senate Sets Tax Bill Goal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate resumes its struggle over President Kennedy's battered tax revision bill today with more than 80 amendments still pending.

Leaders hoped many of these would be dropped by their sponsors. But they knew that several major floor fights still remained before the Senate worked through the 392-page measure.

Originally the leaders hoped to pass the bill by last Friday, but five straight night sessions failed to turn the trick. Now they have set a goal of next Friday.

The delay is holding up another top priority bill — the Foreign Trade Expansion Act. The Senate Finance Committee started to vote on that late last month but had to put it aside so its members could be on hand for the tax debate.

So far, Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., floor manager for the tax revision bill, has been able to beat off all amendments which he opposed.

However, battles remained to be fought on tightening the expense account section, on knocking out a provision which makes lobbying expenses deductible, and on efforts to increase taxes on foreign earnings on American corporations.

Senators also had amendments pending on such diverse subjects as a reduction in the oil and gas depletion allowance, reduction of top bracket income tax rates, repeal of the 4 per cent credit allowed on stock dividend income, allowance of a $600 deduction for college expenses of a child, and allowance of a tax credit for political contributions.

Diapers To Distilleries

Miscellany In Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Proud new parents who don't want their baby to grow up feeling underprivileged can surprise him with a leopard-skin diaper. They are now on the market.

Also available for owners who like to keep their pets happy: a new doghouse equipped with hi-fi music—suitable for both lowbrow and longhair pooches.

And, for someone who really wants to astound his neighbors, a fellow in the Bronx here has built an intricate aluminum bird home four stories high containing five entrances and several private baths. The only one of its kind in the world, it has a price tag of $6,000.

Travel note: Because of the Japanese penchant for stripping down for greater comfort while making train journeys, some rail lines now post signs saying: "Honorable passengers are kindly requested to refrain from displaying honorable underwear."

Poor penmanship is expensive. It is estimated that illegibly written records, orders and instructions cost U. S. industry $70 million a year.

Our quotable notables: "A lifetime of happiness! No man alive could bear it; it would be hell on earth."—George Bernard Shaw.

How times change: Half a century ago young girls thought it unfashionable to have a summer tan. They kept their complexion fair by avoiding the sun and anointing their faces with rosewater and table cream.

Did you know that nobody who works for a distillery can have a key to its front door? Only a federal agent from the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the U. S. Treasury can open or lock up.

Human body oddities: Your heart normally pumps three three quarts of blood a minute. One out of 10 Americans has had some kind of allergy. It takes more energy to carry 50 pounds of excess fat than to carry 50 pounds of lead. The lead doesn't require blood vessels.

Forest arithmetic: Rabbits had to learn to multiply in order to survive. Because of many natural enemies, only one of every 20 cottontail bunnies lives to celebrate its first birthday.

Why speed is dangerous: You can halt a car in 47 feet going only 20 miles an hour. At 40 m.p.h. it takes 149 feet, and at 70 m.p.h. 532 feet—or nearly the length of two football fields.

History lesson: Can you name the only U. S. President whose father outlived him? He was Warren G. Harding (1865-1923). His father, George T. Harding died in 1928 at the age of 84.

Executive signs: From the desk of John F. Isard, Hotel Stanhope manager: "The trouble with opportunity is that it always comes disguised as hard work."

Marital big game: Single girls often complain that "The best men are already married." Maybe this good news will cheer them up: One of every 16 American millionaires is still a bachelor.

Fingernail facts: Women's fingernails don't grow as fast as men's. Your fingernails tend to grow faster if you habitually bite them.

Personalities: J. C. Penney, the chain store founder, earned $2.28 a month in his first job. Mamie Eisenhower is a television Western fan.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: My goodness, I just must take time to share with mothers who have big families and hate to cook hot cakes (or flap jacks as we call 'em) because it takes so much time that our kids have to eat in shifts!

Heloise, I have been married 15 years and have 13 kids. Believe it, it's true.

I never used to serve hot cakes (which are cheap and fills 'em up) because it took so much time that Daddy was late to work or the kids were late to school until I learned to use four skillets at once.

I now use four skillets . . . one on each burner. I pour the batter in two skillets while I am turning the pancakes over in the two other skillets!

This is the answer for those who have big families. It's just like a cafe but so easy on mother.

And let me tell you something else for those who live on the farm and feed hired hands or have a batch of kids like we do . . . when you have the energy, go on and make the flap jacks up but just don't get them quite so brown . . .

When ready to serve, turn your oven on and lay the flap jacks on the racks in your oven and let them get warm and brown! This way, you can serve a dozen at a time! They are crisp. Heat the syrup as this makes the hot cakes stay hot.

TIRED MOTHER OF 13.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you know that if a tiny sprinkling of corn meal is used on greased bread tins, that the pans will never become sticky from baked-on-grease . . . which is ordinarily used to grease the pans?

The corn meal absorbs all excess oil and the pan washes clean, practically with just rinsing the cornmeal away.

VIRGINIA ENGLISH.

All Purpose Hose

DEAR HELOISE: A helpful hint that I have for every homemaker is to keep a little rubber hose on her bathtub spigot. They are wonderful for washing children's hair, plus your own.

When I clean the tile and scour the tub I can just turn on the little hose and everything is completely rinsed. In warm weather they are very handy for just soaking and rinsing off children to cool them off often. A mother can do this several times a day and it takes less time than giving an ordinary bath.

DEAR HELOISE: I removed greasy collar and cuff marks of four and five years standing . . . out of my husband's shirts with one application of concentrated shampoo by scrubbing it in gently with a soft brush and letting this stand about 30 minutes and then wash as usual.

Peggy Webber.

DEAR HELOISE: I do so wish someone would tell us how to keep lettuce from turning brown. Sure would appreciate it.

Mariam Smith.

Anyone know how? I can bet that she isn't the only one who has lettuce turn brown. Someone help us. Write to Heloise, care of The Review.

7,000 Attend Weekend Fair Of New Cumberland Lions

The annual Community Free Fair of the New Cumberland Lions Club, which concluded a four-day holiday stand Monday night, was termed today "a big success" despite some unfavorable weather.

The club estimated 7,000 attendance for the fair, which opened Friday night.

Atty. Ed Flowers, publicity chairman, said about 2,000 were at the fairgrounds at the school athletic field Friday night, 1,500 on Saturday and 3,000 Monday night.

The fairgrounds was closed all day Sunday. In lieu of carnival and fair attractions, a community hymn sing and art show were held, with over 100 at each.

Showers curtailed part of the fair activities Saturday night. The Weir High School Varsity Band completed a marching demonstration, but was unable to finish a concert performance because of rain. Paul Campbell's 11-piece orchestra performed under shelter, but the crowds sought cover away from the fairgrounds.

Prize winners Monday night included Clayton Gillis, Kim Bennett, Morris Blake, Agnes Herron and Donald Pugh.

Fifty youngsters were registered for two special attractions Saturday and Monday — a pet show and a doll show. Jimmy Allison of Pughtown won the pet show with his entry of an English bulldog. Other entries included a guinea pig and a day-old kitten.

The club said the public response of the free event was "gratifying," with visitors attending from outlying areas of Chester, Lisbon, Salem, Steubenville, Weirton, Chester and Newell.

It was held to lure area residents off the crowded highways during the holidays, and not as a fund-raising event. However, the club said it "hoped to have done well enough to present a bigger and better fair next year."

Tuberculosis Clinic Slated At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A tuberculosis clinic will be held Saturday and Monday at the American Legion Hall by the Board of Health for those persons who had positive reactions to a Heaf test given two weeks ago.

Most of the persons are food handlers, or employes of the Royal China Co. and L. W. Nash Co.

Original plans called for those with positive reactions to report to their family physicians, but the clinic was scheduled because of the large number of reactors.

Those who have been notified by mail to report to their doctors are to report instead to the clinic. The Mantoux test, a more exact type of skin test, will be given.

2 Youths At Midland Cited For Drag Race

A hearing is set tonight at 7 before Midland Justice of the Peace Paul McGeehan for two young Midland motorists caught drag racing on "Mystery Mile" in Industry by Police Chief Guy St. Esprit Monday night about 11:30.

Louis Ancrile, 21, was reported driving a 1962 compact and Claude S. Reed Jr., 18, a 1958 sports car, police said. Richard Gerald Tomec, 18, of Midland, was a passenger in the Ancrile car and a 15-year-old youth was a passenger in the Reed car, police said.

The drivers were placed in their parents' custody pending the hearing.

Boy, 13, Knifes Warren Woman To Buy Toy Gun

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A 64-year-old woman was stabbed six times in the back by an intruder who fled from her apartment early today with more than $480, police said. Authorities arrested a 13-year-old neighbor boy.

"I stabbed her because I thought she awoke and saw me," the boy was quoted as telling police. Mrs. Marie Yaney was in serious condition in a Warren Hospital.

Sgt. Robert Darr, said the boy admitted stealing from the woman's third floor apartment because "I wanted money to buy a water squirt gun and felt my parents wouldn't give me any to get one."

Sgt. Darr gave this account:

The boy, whose name was withheld, lives on the first floor at the same address. He got out of bed shortly after midnight, took a paring knife and crept up to the top floor.

The boy told police he searched the apartment for the money while the woman was asleep. He said she stirred in bed and he thought she saw him and he panicked.

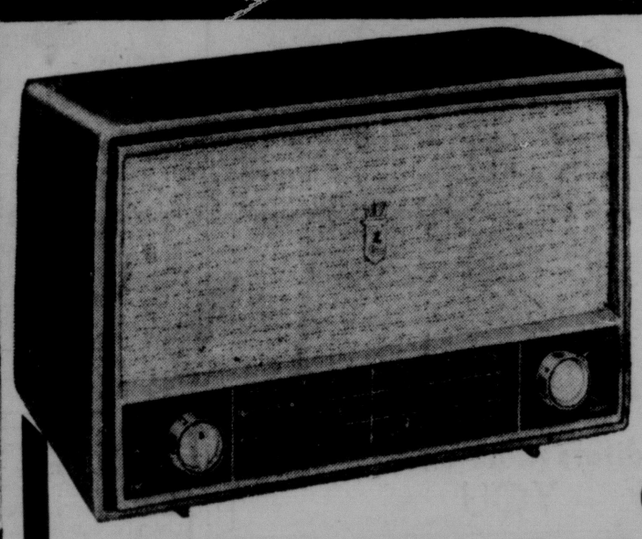

"I stabbed her and didn't want to hurt her," Sgt. Darr quoted the boy as saying. "She screamed and I put the pillow over her head and stabbed her some more."

Detectives took the boy out of bed several hours later.

Summit Coroner Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A requiem mass will be sung Thursday in St. Joseph Church for Dr. William J. Pittenger, Summit County coroner for the last 10 years. Pittenger, who died in his sleep of an apparent heart attack at his Cuyahoga Falls home Monday, will be buried in Holy Cross Cemetery, Akron. He was 57.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: My goodness, I just must take time to share with mothers who have big families and hate to cook hot cakes (or flap jacks as we call 'em) because it takes so much time that our kids have to eat in shifts!

Heloise, I have been married 15 years and have 13 kids. Believe it, it's true.

I never used to serve hot cakes (which are cheap and fills 'em up) because it took so much time that Daddy was late to work or the kids were late to school until I learned to use four skillets at once.

I now use four skillets . . . one on each burner. I pour the batter in two skillets while I am turning the pancakes over in the two other skillets!

This is the answer for those who have big families. It's just like a cafe but so easy on mother.

And let me tell you something else for those who live on the farm and feed hired hands or have a batch of kids like we do . . . when you have the energy, go on and make the flap jacks up but just don't get them quite so brown . . .

When ready to serve, turn your oven on and lay the flap jacks on the racks in your oven and let them get warm and brown! This way, you can serve a dozen at a time! They are crisp. Heat the syrup as this makes the hot cakes stay hot.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you know that if a tiny sprinkling of corn meal is used on greased bread tins, that the pans will never become sticky from baked-on-grease . . . which is ordinarily used to grease the pans?

The corn meal absorbs all excess oil and the pan washes clean, practically with just rinsing the cornmeal away.

All Purpose Hose

DEAR HELOISE: A helpful hint that I have for every homemaker is to keep a little rubber hose on her bathtub spigot. They are wonderful for washing children's hair, plus your own.

When I clean the tile and scour the tub I can just turn on the little hose and everything is completely rinsed. In warm weather they are very handy for just soaking and rinsing off children to cool them off often. A mother can do this several times a day and it takes less time than giving an ordinary bath.

DEAR HELOISE: I removed greasy collar and cuff marks of four and five years standing . . . out of my husband's shirts with one application of concentrated shampoo by scrubbing it in gently with a soft brush and letting this stand about 30 minutes and then wash as usual.

Peggy Webber.

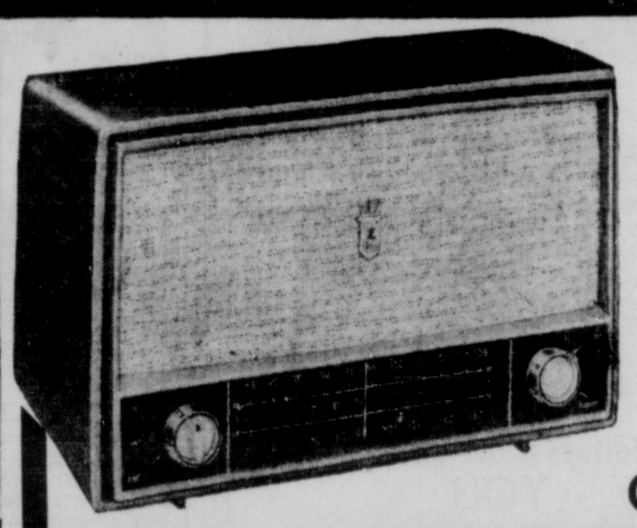

DEAR HELOISE: I do so wish someone would tell us how to keep lettuce from turning brown. Sure would appreciate it.

Mariam Smith.

Anyone know how? I can bet that she isn't the only one who has lettuce turn brown. Someone help us. Write to Heloise, care of The Review.

7,000 Attend Weekend Fair Of New Cumberland Lions

The annual Community Free Fair of the New Cumberland Lions Club, which concluded a four-day holiday stand Monday night, was termed today "a big success" despite some unfavorable weather.

The club estimated 7,000 attendance for the fair, which opened Friday night.

Atty. Ed Flowers, publicity chairman, said about 2,000 were at the fairgrounds at the school athletic field Friday night, 1,500 on Saturday and 3,000 Monday night.

The fairgrounds was closed all day Sunday. In lieu of carnival and fair attractions, a community hymn sing and art show were held, with over 100 at each.

Showers curtailed part of the fair activities Saturday night. The Weir High School Varsity Band completed a marching demonstration, but was unable to finish a concert performance because of rain. Paul Campbell's 11-piece orchestra performed under shelter, but the crowds sought cover away from the fairgrounds.

Prize winners Monday night included Clayton Gillis, Kim Bennett, Morris Blake, Agnes Herron and Donald Pugh.

Fifty youngsters were registered for two special attractions Saturday and Monday — a pet show and a doll show. Jimmy Allison of Pughtown won the pet show with his entry of an English bulldog. Other entries included a guinea pig and a day-old kitten.

The club said the public response of the free event was "gratifying," with visitors attending from outlying areas of Chester, Lisbon, Salem, Steubenville, Weirton, Chester and Newell.

It was held to lure area residents off the crowded highways during the holidays, and not as a fund-raising event. However, the club said it "hoped to have done well enough to present a bigger and better fair next year."

Tuberculosis Clinic Slated At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A tuberculosis clinic will be held Saturday and Monday at the American Legion Hall by the Board of Health for those persons who had positive reactions to a Heaf test given two weeks ago.

Most of the persons are food handlers, or employes of the Royal China Co. and L. W. Nash Co.

Original plans called for those with positive reactions to report to their family physicians, but the clinic was scheduled because of the large number of reactors.

Those who have been notified by mail to report to their doctors are to report instead to the clinic. The Mantoux test, a more exact type of skin test, will be given.

2 Youths At Midland Cited For Drag Race

A hearing is set tonight at 7 before Midland Justice of the Peace Paul McGeehan for two young Midland motorists caught drag racing on "Mystery Mile" in Industry by Police Chief Guy St. Esprit Monday night about 11:30.

Louis Ancrile, 21, was reported driving a 1962 compact and Claude S. Reed Jr., 18, a 1958 sports car, police said. Richard Gerald Tomec, 18, of Midland, was a passenger in the Ancrile car and a 15-year-old youth was a passenger in the Reed car, police said.

The drivers were placed in their parents' custody pending the hearing.

Boy, 13, Knifes Warren Woman To Buy Toy Gun

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A 64-year-old woman was stabbed six times in the back by an intruder who fled from her apartment early today with more than $480, police said. Authorities arrested a 13-year-old neighbor boy.

"I stabbed her because I thought she awoke and saw me," the boy was quoted as telling police. Mrs. Marie Yaney was in serious condition in a Warren Hospital.

Sgt. Robert Darr, said the boy admitted stealing from the woman's third floor apartment because "I wanted money to buy a water squirt gun and felt my parents wouldn't give me any to get one."

Sgt. Darr gave this account:

The boy, whose name was withheld, lives on the first floor at the same address. He got out of bed shortly after midnight, took a paring knife and crept up to the top floor.

The boy told police he searched the apartment for the money while the woman was asleep. He said she stirred in bed and he thought she saw him and he panicked.

"I stabbed her and didn't want to hurt her," Sgt. Darr quoted the boy as saying. "She screamed and I put the pillow over her head and stabbed her some more."

Detectives took the boy out of bed several hours later.

Summit Coroner Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A requiem mass will be sung Thursday in St. Joseph Church for Dr. William J. Pittenger, Summit County coroner for the last 10 years. Pittenger, who died in his sleep of an apparent heart attack at his Cuyahoga Falls home Monday, will be buried in Holy Cross Cemetery, Akron. He was 57.
